Election Will Bring Flood Of New Faces

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A record vote is predicted but no matter what happens at the ballot box next Tuesday, the 1973 Missouri legislature will have more new faces than at any time since the '40s.

Redistricting, retirements and expected Republican gains in the House will account for the big turnover.

And the freshman legislators will have to become educated about state government in a hurry because they will be facing the biggest legislative job since the 1945 legislature worked almost two years straight to implement the newly adopted Constitution.

They will also be working with a new governor who has no legislative experience, no matter which candidate wins.

There is no chance for a Republican takeover in the Senate, which is Democratic now, 25-9. Republicans hope to pick up three seats to give them 12 of the 34 votes.

I the House, Republicans staged an "82 in '72" drive this year in the hope of gaining a majority of the 163 seats.

The chairman of that campaign, Rep. Les Langsford, RSpringfield, predicted Friday the GOP would have a total of between 72 and 92 seats after the ballots are counted, which would be the biggest gain since Republicans won control of the House in 1952.

Langsford predicts a 20-seat gain in outstate Missouri, six in metropolitan Kansas City and possibly eight in the St. Louis metropolitan area.

He called prospects for gaining a majority very good.

If Republicans should gain control of the House, their speaker probably would be Rep. John T. Russell, R-Lebanon, who is now minority floor leader. He say there is a good chance Republicans may occupy 85 to 88 seats.

If the Democrats retain control, Rep. Richard Rabbitt, DSt. Louis, is the front runner to become speaker although Rep. Phil Snowden, D-Gladstone, a Kansas City suburb, also is bidding for the job.

Rep. Kenneth Rothman, DClayton, now the House judiciary chairman, is generally regarded as the likely successor to Rabbitt as majority floor leader.

In the Senate, nine senators are elected automatically without opposition.

One of the senators who retired this year was Sen. J. F. Patterson, D-Caruthersville, the president pro tem. Sen. William J. Cason, D-Clinton, the present majority leader, says he has enough votes to succeed Patterson in that job but Sen. William B. Waters, D-Liberty, is also in the race.

Elected automatically in the Senate are:

Donald J. Gralike, D-St. Louis, in the 1st District, who is moving up from the House; Sen. Lawrence J. Lee, D-St. Louis, in the 3rd, where the Republican nominee withdrew and a successor filed too late to get on the ballot.

Sen. Raymond Howard, D-St. Louis, in the 5th, one of the Senate's two black members; Sen. A. Clifford Jones, R-Brentwood, in the 7th, the minority floor leader; Sen. Maurice Schechter, D-Creve Coeur, in the 13th;

Sen. Waters in the 17th; former Sen. John C. Ryan, R-Sedalia, in the 21st; Sen. Nelson B. Tinnin, D-Hornersville, in the 25th; and Sen. Albert M. Spradling, D-Cape Girardeau, in the 27th.

This year the Senate may gain its first woman member, Rep. Mary L. Gant of Kansas City. She is the Democratic nominee in the 9th District, which opened up by the retirement of veteran Sen. Edgar J. Keating, D-Kansas City.

Mrs. Gant's opponent is Daniel Guidici, a 38-year-old research scientist. The district is normally Democratic.

In outstate Missouri, one of the most interest races will be in the 19th District of Boone, Callaway, Hoard and Callaway counties. All are traditionally Democratic but the Republican vote has been growing in Boone County, seat of the Universitv of Missouri at Columbia.

The incumbent senator since 1960 is A. Basey Vanlandingham, 52, of Columbia, former majority leader who opposed lowering the voting age to 18. About 7,000 students are included in Boone County's 37,000 registered voters.

Opposing Vanlandingham is Larry Marshall, 35, a native of Joplin who now practices law in Columbia. He formerly was Boone County public defender and has campaigned for student recognition.

Two new faces are guaranteed in the Senate because of retirements.

In the new 23rd District of central Missouri, Sen. Omer H. Avery, D-Troy, bowed out when Lincoln County was thrown into the 18th District represented by Sen. Norman Merrell, D-Monticello, who is not up for re-election this year.

The new 23rd has a Republican flavor and the candidates are Rep. Ralph Uthlaut Jr., 38, R-New Florence, and Ken V. Wildhaber, D-Jefferson City, former Jefferson City alderman who grew up in Osage County.

Similarly, in the heavily Republican 29th District of southwestern Missouri, veteran Sen. Noel Cox, R-Ozark, decided to retire this year.

P. Bluff Suit Tries To Block Patrol Move

POPLAR BLUFF — A group of Poplar Bluff residents have announced plans to seek an injunction against Gov. Warren E. Hearnes and other state officials to prevent the construction of a new Highway Patrol Troop E Headquarters in Sikeston.

The group has planned to file in Cole County Circuit Court in Jefferson City Friday, but had not done so as of 4:30 p.m. according to Lucille Sheley, circuit clerk.

The eight plantiffs joining in the petition to the court are Mayor Barnard Weetley; Councilmen Harold Jackson, Al Looper and Denny Lanning; Chamber of Commerce Board members R. R. Correll, Stephen Sun, D. W. Rudd, and Everet Jiles.

Defendants named in the petition are: Gov. Warren E. Hearnes; Col. E. I. "Mike" Hockaday, superintendent of the Missouri Highway Patrol; William E. Robinson, state treasurer; John D. Paulus, Jr., director of the Division of Planning Construction; and John C. Vaughn, the state comptroller.

The plaintiffs state in their petition that they represent themselves as individuals and all other taxpayers of the state of Missouri; and that all persons who have an interest in the litigation are "too numerous to join as parties."

The suit will challenge the constitutionality of Gov. Hearnes' action in striking "Poplar Bluff" from a bill passed by the General Assembly and appropriating $693,030 for a new Troop E. headquarters.

The petition states: "That Warren Hearnes did unlawfully and unconstitutionally strike from said bill the name Poplar Bluff and did then sign and approve a different bill with the name Poplar Bluff omitted, and did thereby change the expressed purpose and intent of the bill as it was duly passed by the Missouri legislature to such an extent so as to cause the bill to lose its identity and to destroy the expressed purpose and intent of the legislature."

The suit will alledge that Hearnes' act was prohibited by the Constitution of the State of Missouri and the statutes and common law of the state and that the bill was either approved with the name Poplar Bluff intact or the provision for a new building was completely vetoed and of no effect.

The action claims that Hockaday, was without any authority to make such a decision. The petition further states that construction of the building near Sikeston, as announced by the defendants, would "require an unlawful expenditure of public funds causing great and irreparable loss and damage to these plaintiffs and to all other taxpayers of the State of Missouri ..."

The petition requests the court to permanently enjoin the defendants, their employes, servants and agents from:

Stray Shot Hits Man In Outhouse

HORNERSVILLE-- A person just isn't safe anywhere these days a Hornersville man discovered Friday when he was shot while in his outhouse.

Tommy Manley, 21, of Hornersville Route One was shot in the left shoulder and hand when his brother accidentally discharged a shotgun into the outhouse.

Dunklin County Deputy Sheriff Radford Raines said Manley's brother, Jimmy Ray Manley, 25, was loading a bolt- action shotgun to shoot a stray dog chasing his chickens, and the gun was discharged.

The shot passed through the outhouse wall and hit the occupant.

The older Manley told Raines he didn't know his brother was inside.

Manley was treated and released from Dunklin County Memorial Hospital in Kennett. His wounds were not serious.

ENDORSING THE CANDIDATES

If past is prologue, a majority of the nation's newspapers soon will have endorsed the candidacy of Richard M. Nixon for President. Since 1932, when Editor & Publisher began polling newspapers on their endorsements, a majority backed the Democratic hopeful only once. That was in 1964, when President Johnson received the support of 42.4 per cent of the newspapers queried by E&P. Sen. Barry Goldwater was backed by 34.7 per cent, and just over 22 per cent were uncommitted.

This year, Newsday has challenged that propriety of newspaper endorsements. Announcing Sept. 5 that it would endorse nobody, the Long Island, N.Y., daily argued that "a newspaper should inform, not tell its readers how to vote." The stand might well be supported by those reporters who objected strongly when Charles L. Perlik, president of The Newspaper Guild, broke with tradition July 13 and endorsed George McGovern. That, newsmen charged, called into question their professional objectivity.

Yet reporters rarely protest when their newspapers endorse candidates. The decision on who to back is usually taken by the paper's ownership or editorial board. In what is probably a majority view among publishers, failure to endorse is an evasion of editorial responsibility. Editor & Publisher stated recently that, "While they are being bombarded with television 'quickies' that misrepresent the issues, newspaper readers can stand thoughtful guidance on how they might vote for a President."

Newspaper endorsements nevertheless remain a "gray area" in the minds of some media critics. Along with the editors of Newsday, they maintain that endorsements, at the very least, leave the newspaper open to charges of bias. The counter argument is that newspapers which lay their politics on the line in the editorial page are more likely to enforce objectivity in the news columns. In other words, newspapers will be damned if they do endorse candidates, and damned if they don't.

ONE KEY TO THE WHITE HOUSE

The incumbent has an advantage over the challenger in this presidential election that none of the polls has taken into account — he plays the piano. Or at least nobody laughs when Mr. Nixon sits down to play, usually a rendition of "Happy Birthday."

While it can't be said for certain that you have to play the piano to be president, every president has considered a piano to be an essential grace note to White House decor.

In fact, six of them — Abraham Lincoln, Rutherford B. Hayes, Benjamin Harrison, Theodore Roosevelt, Woodrow Wilson and Herbert Hoover — had two. Harry Truman had three.

Warren G. Harding, who probably didn't know a G-clef from a glissando, had a player piano. Grover Cleveland owned a combination piano and harpischord. And last but first, George Washington had both a pianoforte and a harpischord.

This intelligence comes from J. Phillips L. Johnston, president of Currier Pianos, Inc., who proudly reports that a Currier was first owned by John Adams, the second president of the United States. The sixth president, John Quincy Adams, had another Currier.

Politics, however, has nothing to do with the fact that sales of spinet and upright pianos are at an all-time high. According to Johnston, it's because his and other firms are producing instruments suitable in size and style for the limited living space of today.

Some 31.5 million Americans play musical instruments, and 44 per cent of them play pianos. Fortissimo! What a bloc of potential votes for the candidate who strikes the right chord.

PERFECTLY SUITED FOR JOB

Kirkpatrick is an unusual state office holder. He has no aspiration for seeking another higher office. He has never suffered the slightest hint of misconduct in performing his duties. There has never been a serious allegation of incompetence aimed at his work. He seems perfectly suited for the job of Secretary of State.

In addition, Kirkpatrick has been the most consistent and probably the most effective liasion person in the entire state between the administration and the people. He is open and responsive when citizens contact his office. He is gregarious and makes a point of traveling around the state to mix at the grassroots level. He does much to humanize the image of state government.

It would be hard to imagine how an individual could accumulate a better track record than Jimmy Kirkpatrick has done as Secretary of State.

CHEAP BUT NOT FREE

Everything is relative. There was a time when butcher shops gave away soupbones. Then when housewives had to pay a few cents for them, the price was too high. And so it is with electric power. Compared to other costs of living, it is virtually free. Thus, when electric rates go up a few cents, which is inevitable as power companies are confronted with soaring costs the same as all the rest of us, the tendency of the consumer is to squall like a scalded cat.

The Federal Power Commission has released a report that should help bring the current cost of electrical service into perspective. The report shows that average monthly electric bills were higher at the beginning of 1970 than the year before -- which is not surprising. However, current electric rates are hardly exhorbitant considering the services rendered. The average monthly residential bill for the U. S. was $10.51 for 500 kilowatt hours, 19 cents higher than that for 1969. For 750 kilowatt hours, the average bill was $14.22 at the start of 1970 compared to $13.97 in 1969. Annual residential use of electricity in urban areas averaged about 495 kilowatt hours monthly in 1969, an eight per cent increase over 1968.

The amazing part is that electric rates have held the line against inflation as long as they have. Compared to 10 years ago, according to figures released by one company, copper wire has soared in price, from 30 to 60 cents a pound; a utility pole, which used to cost $29.13 in 1960 now costs $39.85 (in this particular company's area). A turbogenerator has increased in price from $10 million to $15 million since 1960. And everyone knows what has happened to salaries and wages in the past 10 years. When it comes to rising costs, electricity is like the soupbone. It is cheap, but it isn't free.

A DIRTY WORD?

Everyone wants the benefits of a growing, productive country. Yet, paradoxically, a drive is on to stop growth. U. S. Senator Gordon Allott of Colorado drew attention to this fight against growth when he said he was disturbed by the existence in the United States of "a loose but very effective coalition of lobbies against the very idea of economic growth."

One of the reasons for opposition of antigrowth advocates to expansion of the energy industries is that they know that the American economy runs on energy, and the quickest way to slow it down is to diminish the supply of energy. As the Senator from Colorado observes, "... today you cannot turn a spade of earth for the construction of a power plant without generating five years of litigation from various environmental groups. In fact, we are so much more proficient at generating litigation than we are at generating electricity, that in five years we will have clogged courts and brownouts in every section of thynation. There will be no immunity for spectators. Thus it is time for Americans to get out of the bleachers and into the game."

In other words, we should stop thinking of growth as a dirty word.

Some packages of cereals are labeled restored, others say enriched. Is there a difference?

Restored cereals contain added thiamin, iron and niacin in amounts accepted as whole grain levels found in the original grain or grains. Enriched cereals contain vitamins and/or minterals in added amounts above the whole grain levels. Vitamin D and other nutrients may also be added.

Why do some foods that vary considerably in weight (such as cereals) come in identical size packages? Isn't this deceiving consumers?

The consumer is protected because the actual weight of the package contents is printed on every label. The same size box is used because it saves production costs and greater convenience in handling and a lower price to the consumer.

I recently bought a cereal snack that had a fancy foil liner inside the box. Isn't that contribution to pollution as well as price?

Some snack foods become rancid and stale when exposed to air and moisture so a foil liner is used to keep the contents fresh and crisp. Actually, such a liner may save the consumer money because it preserves the quality of food. The foil liner allows for resealing the package after each use, preventing the snack from becoming tough and stale.

Who determines how much additive can be used in certain foods?

The Food and Drug Administration is responsible for establishing rigid safety standards for additives in food. Not only must the additive be proved safe in normal use, but also safe when small amounts are consumed over a lifetime. The amounts vary, depending on the type of food, the additive's safety, and the least amount needed to accomplish the desired result.

WHOSE WALLET?

Action taken by a water quality enforcement agency may compel a number of Midwest utilities to invest many millions of dollars in cooling towers. A news account notes that the ". . .utilities found themselves in hot water up to their wallets."

After all, a power company's obligation is to provide electric energy that is as reasonable in cost as possible. Regulatory authorities see to that. If pollution control regulations are suddenly changed, as they seem to have been in the case of these Midwest companies, after the companies have launched construction programs, a great deal of costly "remodeling" becomes necessary. In the case of these companies, this cost will run as high as $55 per kilowatt of generating capacity. All of the companies said they could have included cooling towers in the original plans for the plants at far less cost if they had known in advance that they would be required. As is now likely, under the new rules, one company estimates operating costs will be increased about $3- million annually. Another company estimates additional construction costs at 10 percent. Still another would have chosen a different site. A great many people have yet to realize there is no one to pay the bill for environmental improvement except the public. If one unjustified law or pollution control rule is issued, the cost eventually finds its way into the prices we pay for the necessities of life. Electric power is one of those necessities, and every effort should be made to avoid adding to the cost of environmental preservation. We should remember whose wallet the money comes out of when the bill comes due.

WHAT KIND OF PRINCIPLES?

Most of the publicity given to the Nixon— Brezhnev "summit conference" focused on the disarmament treaties which seriously weaken our nation's ability to defend itself. Attention should also be paid to the "declaration of principles" for East— West relations signed in Moscow.

In the first of the twelve principles in the declaration, the United States and the U.S.S.R. agree that "there is no alternative to conducting their mutual relations on the basis of peaceful coexistence."

"Peaceful coexistence" is a Soviet phrase, used by Khruschchev and Brezhnev to mask communist imperialistic intentions. When Moscow calls for peaceful coexistence, it means that the West is not to interfere when the Soviet Union imposes its will on satellite nations, such as Czechoslovakia.

In discussions with our Western European allies before the summit conference, representatives of the United States agreed that any statement igned in Moscow should guarantee the right of self- determination for other nations. But this phrase nowhere appears in the Moscow declaration, a tacit admission by our government that the communists may prevent other nations from determining their own destiny.

The U.S.- Western Europe discussions also emphasized the importance of freedom of movemer for people in Eastern Europe, but this too was dropped from the declaration of principles.

This declaration will be used as the basis for the East— West Security Conference this November, and virtually guarantees that the meeting will strengthen the Soviet osition. By signing this declaration, the United States has essentially accepted Soviet rule in Eastern Europe and sanctioned its imperialism. This marks a severe diplomatic defeat for the West.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

NEW YORK-- There was nothing wistful in his voice as the words cascaded in characteristic flow. Then, for the first time in the 20 years I've known him, Hubert Humphrey slowed his conversation, momentarily seemed reluctant, and then replied:

"Yes, I honestly believe I could have defeated Nixon. I've given everything I have to this campaign. I've been unstinting. But there doesn't seem to be the same momentum in this final week of the campaign as there was in '68.

"It's not comparable. McGovern is much further behind than we ever were. The maximum behind (Nixon— Agnew) we ever were then was 12 percentage points. We were only behind three points the final week. There is a considerable difference between then and now."

I had pressed "Hubert" (no one ever calls him anything else) for the comparison. Can George McGovern pull a Truman or a Churchill who, after leading his nation through the blood, sweat and tears of the big war, was beaten by the Labor Party? Could this happen to Richard Nixon?

Here in '72, as in Britain in '45, I do believe, the balance of power in these final hours is the labor movement.

More than half of the nation's union members live in the seven largest, pivotal states-- New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, Michigan, Texas and California. At least 20 per cent of the voting lists in New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio and Michigan are union members. And there is a powerful bloc, tightly organized in California, led by their executive officer Jack Henning, the one man Richard Nixon believes is most responsible for his '62 gubernatorial defeat.

So in the last heat, the race is on for the labor vote.

Sen. Humphrey said the professional Democrats and the labor people are coming back into the fold, "but not as much as I would have liked." Much of this springs from President Nixon's successful alliance with strong union blocs.

"It was special counsel Chuck Colson who brought those labor people in almost man by man," says one truly topside White House inner-circle political observer. "It is this which will give Dick the wide margin. Otherwise the results would be closer. The labor leaders would have been out there for Humphrey or Muskie or a Kennedy using their machinery to bring the defecting Democrats back to the Democratic fold. But with the labor machinery disaffected and neutralized, the McGovern campaigners simply can't swing the dissidents.

"Everybody forgets that the regular Democratic city machines, which were jettisoned by the McGovern strategists, are tied right in, and have been for years, with the city and state central labor councils. And these have been held in line by Meany."

But mistake it not. McGovern doesn't plan to lose this make- or- break labor vote by default-- though Meany has been so certain the Dakotan will that he chose this moment to become absorbed in moving into a new home from one he's occupied for decades.

Sen. McGovern's pitch is for the big industrial states. He has crisscrossed New York 11 times. He has been in New Jersey (where one sign the other day read "McGovern and Kennedy" in big block letters and McGovern— Shriver in small print) six times. He has hit Pittsburgh and Los Angeles in the past week. In the latter city he made a bid not only for the regular militant labor vote but for the hard hats too.

In New York's garment area, the traditional campaign-end rag jungle rally heard 40,000 cheer McGovern and Ted Kennedy-- not as many as cheered Jack Kennedy in '60 but thunderous nonetheless.

And it was the 1960 prececessor of this International Ladies' Garment Workers' mass demonstration, now chaired by its president Lou Stulberg, which swung the state which won the nation for Jack Kennedy.

Then, the Humphrey campaign manager, de jure, was labor chief George Meany. And though de jure today he is with Dick Nixon, many in labor's high command have organized pro— McGovern teams across the land to hit the plant gates. Typical of the McGovern united front teams is one headed by Electrical Workers president Paul Jennings, along with United Auto Workers vice president for its Ford division, Ken Bannon, and a Textile Workers official.

There are scores of such big- name labor teams hitting hundreds of key massive plants. Their money matches their manpower as they attempt to neutralize their "brother"-- truly big brothers, like Teamsters' Frank Fitzsimmons who tells me he has had "all resources out there working for the re- election of the President." Or the Seafarers' Paul Hall, chairman of the National Maritime Committee to Reelect the President which is spending the final hours "raising" Nixon's labor profile. In this ball game it will be the last- minute rallies-- of the labor vote-- which will count.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON-- The nation's No. 1 oddsmaker, Jimmy the Greek, now rates President Nixon an overwhelming 100- to- 1 favorite to win re- election next Tuesday. Indeed, the President has a good chance-- one in six, by Jimmy's calculations-- of winning all 50 states.

Jimmy considers the Democrats, however, strong favorites to keep control of Congress. He sees little chance of a Republican takeover in the House, but the struggle for the Senate could be closer.

He gives the Democrats 6- to- 1 odds to hold the Senate because of their statistical advantage. They now have a 10- member margin, with only 14 seats at stake as against 19 for the Republicans.

The GOP candidates would have to win 24 seats to take control of the Senate. Jimmy rates them safely ahead in 11 states, slightly ahead in 10 others. This would give them only 21 seats. The Democrats, on the other hand, have a safe edge in five states, a slight edge in seven.

In other words, 17 Senate races are so close that the new line- up is in considerable doubt. Several gubernatorial races are equally tight. The deciding factor could well be the length of President Nixon's coattails.

The fabulous Greek has just completed his election eve survey for us. Here's how he calls the close Senate races:

--Close Calls--

Alabama-- Sen. John Sparkman, Democrat, 2- to- 1 favorite over Winton Blount; Delaware-- Sen. J. Caleb Boggs, Republican, 9- to- 5 favorite over Joseph Biden, Jr.; Georgia-- San Nunn, Democrat, 6- to- 5 over Fletcher Thompson; Idaho-- James McClure, Republican, 7- to- 5 over William (Bud) Davis; Iowa-- Sen. Jack Miller and Richard Clark, a toss- up, with a slight tilt toward the Republican incumbent.

Kentucky-- Louie Nunn, Republican, 5- to- 2 over Walter Huddleston; Louisiana-- J. Bennett Johnston, Democrat, 6- to- 5 over John McKeithen, an independent; Michigan-- Sen. Robert Griffin, Republican, 7- to- 5 over Frank Kelley; Nebraska-- Sen. Carl Curtis, Republican, 5- to- 2 over Terry Carpenter; New Mexico-- Pete Domenici, Republican, 2- to- 1 over Jack Daniels.

North Carolina-- Nick Galifianakis, Democrat, 2- to- 1 over Jesse Helms; Oklahoma-- Dewey Bartlett, Republican, 8- to- 5 over Ed Edmondson; Rhode Island-- John Chafee, Republican, 6- to- 5 over Sen. Claiborne Pell; South Dakota-- James Abourezk, Democrat, 7- to- 5 over Robert Hirsch; Texas-- Sen. John Tower, Republican, 11- to- 10 over Harold "Barefoot" Sanders, Virginia-- Sen. William Spong, Democrat, 8- to- 5 over William Scott.

The Greek points out that last- minute gains, particularly by Pell in Rhode Island and Sanders in Texas, could change the odds. Indeed, all the underdogs are running close enough to upset the favorites.

-- Safe Bets--

Beyond striking range, in Jimmy's book, are such favorites as Minnesota's Sen. Walter Mondale, who has a 25- to- 1 advantage; Maine's Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, 15- to- 1; Massachusetts' Sen. Edward Brooke, 10- to- 1. More vulnerable but still safe, says Jimmy, are Colorado's Sen. Gordon Allott, 4- to- 1; South Carolina's Sen. Strom Thurmond, 4- to- 1; Tennessee's Sen. Howard Baker, 4- to- 1; Montana's Sen. Lee Metcalf, 3- to- 1; Oregon's Sen. Mark Hatfield, 3- to- 1; and West Virginia's Sen. Jennings Randolph, 3- to- 1.

The closest gubernatorial race-- Republican Otis Bowen vs. Democrat Matthew Welsh in Indiana-- is so close Jimmy can't call it. But he gives slight edges to Democrat Daniel Walker, 11- to- 10 over Gov. Richard Ogilvie in Illinois; Democrat Sherman Tribbitt, 11- to- 10, over Gov. Russell Peterson in Delaware; Democrat Hargrove Bowles, 11- to- 10 over James Holshouse, Jr., in North Carolina; Democrat Jay Rockefeller 11- to- 10 over Gov. Arch Moore in West Virginia; and Republcian Christopher Bond, 8- to- 5 over Edward Dowd in Missouri.

As Jimmy the Greek would say, put up your money and take your choice.

--Police Patsy--

Representative Sam Devine, R— Ohio, one of Congress's most vocal law- and- order men, has been fronting for a police widow's fund that used up 80 per cent of its money on salaries and expenses.

Devine wrote a tear- jerking solicitation letter, pleading that "a slain policeman's widow and child need your care." It brought in well over $100,000 for the United Police Fund.

However, it wasn't the slain policemen's families who got most of the loving care, but veteran conservative fundraisers Pat Gorman and John Colcombe.

Gorman withheld $60,000 of the $105,000 collected. He said most of this went for postage, mailing lists, printing and the like, leaving him a net of only $10,500. Colcombe got another $15,000.

At the United Police Fund, a spokesman acknowledged that expenses had been high and said Gorman had been dropped as the chief fundraiser. The spokesman said $15,000 had actually been given to police widows and another $4,000 would be distributed soon.

Devine, reached on the campaign trail, exploded: "I'm shocked that the majority of the money did not go to the widows and orphans. I hate like hell to be used this way, as a patsy. I can assure you I didn't get a nickel out of it."

PERFECTLY SUITED FOR JOB

Kirkpatrick is an unusual state office holder. He has no aspiration for seeking another higher office. He has never suffered the slightest hint of misconduct in performing his duties. There has never been a serious allegation of incompetence aimed at his work. He seems perfectly suited for the job of Secretary of State.

In addition, Kirkpatrick has been the most consistent and probably the most effective liasion person in the entire state between the administration and the people. He is open and responsive when citizens contact his office. He is gregarious and makes a point of traveling around the state to mix at the grassroots level. He does much to humanize the image of state government.

It would be hard to imagine how an individual could accumulate a better track record than Jimmy Kirkpatrick has done as Secretary of State.

CHEAP BUT NOT FREE

Everything is relative. There was a time when butcher shops gave away soupbones. Then when housewives had to pay a few cents for them, the price was too high. And so it is with electric power. Compared to other costs of living, it is virtually free. Thus, when electric rates go up a few cents, which is inevitable as power companies are confronted with soaring costs the same as all the rest of us, the tendency of the consumer is to squall like a scalded cat.

The Federal Power Commission has released a report that should help bring the current cost of electrical service into perspective. The report shows that average monthly electric bills were higher at the beginning of 1970 than the year before -- which is not surprising. However, current electric rates are hardly exhorbitant considering the services rendered. The average monthly residential bill for the U. S. was $10.51 for 500 kilowatt hours, 19 cents higher than that for 1969. For 750 kilowatt hours, the average bill was $14.22 at the start of 1970 compared to $13.97 in 1969. Annual residential use of electricity in urban areas averaged about 495 kilowatt hours monthly in 1969, an eight per cent increase over 1968.

The amazing part is that electric rates have held the line against inflation as long as they have. Compared to 10 years ago, according to figures released by one company, copper wire has soared in price, from 30 to 60 cents a pound; a utility pole, which used to cost $29.13 in 1960 now costs $39.85 (in this particular company's area). A turbogenerator has increased in price from $10 million to $15 million since 1960. And everyone knows what has happened to salaries and wages in the past 10 years. When it comes to rising costs, electricity is like the soupbone. It is cheap, but it isn't free.

A DIRTY WORD?

Everyone wants the benefits of a growing, productive country. Yet, paradoxically, a drive is on to stop growth. U. S. Senator Gordon Allott of Colorado drew attention to this fight against growth when he said he was disturbed by the existence in the United States of "a loose but very effective coalition of lobbies against the very idea of economic growth."

One of the reasons for opposition of antigrowth advocates to expansion of the energy industries is that they know that the American economy runs on energy, and the quickest way to slow it down is to diminish the supply of energy. As the Senator from Colorado observes, "... today you cannot turn a spade of earth for the construction of a power plant without generating five years of litigation from various environmental groups. In fact, we are so much more proficient at generating litigation than we are at generating electricity, that in five years we will have clogged courts and brownouts in every section of thynation. There will be no immunity for spectators. Thus it is time for Americans to get out of the bleachers and into the game."

In other words, we should stop thinking of growth as a dirty word.

Some packages of cereals are labeled restored, others say enriched. Is there a difference?

Restored cereals contain added thiamin, iron and niacin in amounts accepted as whole grain levels found in the original grain or grains. Enriched cereals contain vitamins and/or minterals in added amounts above the whole grain levels. Vitamin D and other nutrients may also be added.

Why do some foods that vary considerably in weight (such as cereals) come in identical size packages? Isn't this deceiving consumers?

The consumer is protected because the actual weight of the package contents is printed on every label. The same size box is used because it saves production costs and greater convenience in handling and a lower price to the consumer.

I recently bought a cereal snack that had a fancy foil liner inside the box. Isn't that contribution to pollution as well as price?

Some snack foods become rancid and stale when exposed to air and moisture so a foil liner is used to keep the contents fresh and crisp. Actually, such a liner may save the consumer money because it preserves the quality of food. The foil liner allows for resealing the package after each use, preventing the snack from becoming tough and stale.

Who determines how much additive can be used in certain foods?

The Food and Drug Administration is responsible for establishing rigid safety standards for additives in food. Not only must the additive be proved safe in normal use, but also safe when small amounts are consumed over a lifetime. The amounts vary, depending on the type of food, the additive's safety, and the least amount needed to accomplish the desired result.

WHOSE WALLET?

Action taken by a water quality enforcement agency may compel a number of Midwest utilities to invest many millions of dollars in cooling towers. A news account notes that the ". . .utilities found themselves in hot water up to their wallets."

After all, a power company's obligation is to provide electric energy that is as reasonable in cost as possible. Regulatory authorities see to that. If pollution control regulations are suddenly changed, as they seem to have been in the case of these Midwest companies, after the companies have launched construction programs, a great deal of costly ''remodeling'' becomes necessary. In the case of these companies, this cost will run as high as $55 per kilowatt of generating capacity. All of the companies said they could have included cooling towers in the original plans for the plants at far less cost if they had known in advance that they would be required. As is now likely, under the new rules, one company estimates operating costs will be increased about $3- million annually. Another company estimates additional construction costs at 10 percent. Still another would have chosen a different site. A great many people have yet to realize there is no one to pay the bill for environmental improvement except the public. If one unjustified law or pollution control rule is issued, the cost eventually finds its way into the prices we pay for the necessities of life. Electric power is one of those necessities, and every effort should be made to avoid adding to the cost of environmental preservation. We should remember whose wallet the money comes out of when the bill comes due.

WHAT KIND OF PRINCIPLES?

Most of the publicity given to the Nixon— Brezhnev "summit conference" focused on the disarmament treaties which seriously weaken our nation's ability to defend itself. Attention should also be paid to the ''declaration of principles'' for East— West relations signed in Moscow.

In the first of the twelve principles in the declaration, the United States and the U.S.S.R. agree that "there is no alternative to conducting their mutual relations on the basis of peaceful coexistence.''

''Peaceful coexistence'' is a Soviet phrase, used by Khruschchev and Brezhnev to mask communist imperialistic intentions. When Moscow calls for peaceful coexistence, it means that the West is not to interfere when the Soviet Union imposes its will on satellite nations, such as Czechoslovakia.

In discussions with our Western European allies before the summit conference, representatives of the United States agreed that any statement igned in Moscow should guarantee the right of self- determination for other nations. But this phrase nowhere appears in the Moscow declaration, a tacit admission by our government that the communists may prevent other nations from determining their own destiny.

The U.S.- Western Europe discussions also emphasized the importance of freedom of movement for people in Eastern Europe, but this too was dropped from the declaration of principles.

This declaration will be used as the basis for the East— West Security Conference this November, and virtually guarantees that the meeting will strengthen the Soviet osition. By signing this declaration, the United States has essentially accepted Soviet rule in Eastern Europe and sanctioned its imperialism. This marks a severe diplomatic defeat for the West.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

NEW YORK-- There was nothing wistful in his voice as the words cascaded in characteristic flow. Then, for the first time in the 20 years I've known him, Hubert Humphrey slowed his conversation, momentarily seemed reluctant, and then replied:

"Yes, I honestly believe I could have defeated Nixon. I've given everything I have to this campaign. I've been unstinting. But there doesn't seem to be the same momentum in this final week of the campaign as there was in '68.

''It's not comparable. McGovern is much further behind than we ever were. The maximum behind (Nixon— Agnew) we ever were then was 12 percentage points. We were only behind three points the final week. There is a considerable difference between then and now."

I had pressed "Hubert" (no one ever calls him anything else) for the comparison. Can George McGovern pull a Truman or a Churchill who, after leading his nation through the blood, sweat and tears of the big war, was beaten by the Labor Party? Could this happen to Richard Nixon?

Here in '72, as in Britain in '45, I do believe, the balance of power in these final hours is the labor movement.

More than half of the nation's union members live in the seven largest, pivotal states-- New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, Michigan, Texas and California. At least 20 per cent of the voting lists in New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio and Michigan are union members. And there is a powerful bloc, tightly organized in California, led by their executive officer Jack Henning, the one man Richard Nixon believes is most responsible for his '62 gubernatorial defeat.

So in the last heat, the race is on for the labor vote.

Sen. Humphrey said the professional Democrats and the labor people are coming back into the fold, "but not as much as I would have liked." Much of this springs from President Nixon's successful alliance with strong union blocs.

"It was special counsel Chuck Colson who brought those labor people in almost man by man," says one truly topside White House inner-circle political observer. "It is this which will give Dick the wide margin. Otherwise the results would be closer. The labor leaders would have been out there for Humphrey or Muskie or a Kennedy using their machinery to bring the defecting Democrats back to the Democratic fold. But with the labor machinery disaffected and neutralized, the McGovern campaigners simply can't swing the dissidents.

"Everybody forgets that the regular Democratic city machines, which were jettisoned by the McGovern strategists, are tied right in, and have been for years, with the city and state central labor councils. And these have been held in line by Meany."

But mistake it not. McGovern doesn't plan to lose this make- or- break labor vote by default-- though Meany has been so certain the Dakotan will that he chose this moment to become absorbed in moving into a new home from one he's occupied for decades.

Sen. McGovern's pitch is for the big industrial states. He has crisscrossed New York 11 times. He has been in New Jersey (where one sign the other day read "McGovern and Kennedy" in big block letters and McGovern— Shriver in small print) six times. He has hit Pittsburgh and Los Angeles in the past week. In the latter city he made a bid not only for the regular militant labor vote but for the hard hats too.

In New York's garment area, the traditional campaign-end rag jungle rally heard 40,000 cheer McGovern and Ted Kennedy-- not as many as cheered Jack Kennedy in '60 but thunderous nonetheless.

And it was the 1960 prececessor of this International Ladies' Garment Workers' mass demonstration, now chaired by its president Lou Stulberg, which swung the state which won the nation for Jack Kennedy.

Then, the Humphrey campaign manager, de jure, was labor chief George Meany. And though de jure today he is with Dick Nixon, many in labor's high command have organized pro— McGovern teams across the land to hit the plant gates. Typical of the McGovern united front teams is one headed by Electrical Workers president Paul Jennings, along with United Auto Workers vice president for its Ford division, Ken Bannon, and a Textile Workers official.

There are scores of such big- name labor teams hitting hundreds of key massive plants. Their money matches their manpower as they attempt to neutralize their "brother"-- truly big brothers, like Teamsters' Frank Fitzsimmons who tells me he has had "all resources out there working for the re- election of the President." Or the Seafarers' Paul Hall, chairman of the National Maritime Committee to Reelect the President which is spending the final hours "raising" Nixon's labor profile. In this ball game it will be the last- minute rallies-- of the labor vote-- which will count.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON-- The nation's No. 1 oddsmaker, Jimmy the Greek, now rates President Nixon an overwhelming 100- to- 1 favorite to win re- election next Tuesday. Indeed, the President has a good chance-- one in six, by Jimmy's calculations-- of winning all 50 states.

Jimmy considers the Democrats, however, strong favorites to keep control of Congress. He sees little chance of a Republican takeover in the House, but the struggle for the Senate could be closer.

He gives the Democrats 6- to- 1 odds to hold the Senate because of their statistical advantage. They now have a 10- member margin, with only 14 seats at stake as against 19 for the Republicans.

The GOP candidates would have to win 24 seats to take control of the Senate. Jimmy rates them safely ahead in 11 states, slightly ahead in 10 others. This would give them only 21 seats. The Democrats, on the other hand, have a safe edge in five states, a slight edge in seven.

In other words, 17 Senate races are so close that the new line- up is in considerable doubt. Several gubernatorial races are equally tight. The deciding factor could well be the length of President Nixon's coattails.

The fabulous Greek has just completed his election eve survey for us. Here's how he calls the close Senate races:

--Close Calls--

Alabama-- Sen. John Sparkman, Democrat, 2- to- 1 favorite over Winton Blount; Delaware-- Sen. J. Caleb Boggs, Republican, 9- to- 5 favorite over Joseph Biden, Jr.; Georgia-- San Nunn, Democrat, 6- to- 5 over Fletcher Thompson; Idaho-- James McClure, Republican, 7- to- 5 over William (Bud) Davis; Iowa-- Sen. Jack Miller and Richard Clark, a toss- up, with a slight tilt toward the Republican incumbent.

Kentucky-- Louie Nunn, Republican, 5- to- 2 over Walter Huddleston; Louisiana-- J. Bennett Johnston, Democrat, 6- to- 5 over John McKeithen, an independent; Michigan-- Sen. Robert Griffin, Republican, 7- to- 5 over Frank Kelley; Nebraska-- Sen. Carl Curtis, Republican, 5- to- 2 over Terry Carpenter; New Mexico-- Pete Domenici, Republican, 2- to- 1 over Jack Daniels.

North Carolina-- Nick Galifianakis, Democrat, 2- to- 1 over Jesse Helms; Oklahoma-- Dewey Bartlett, Republican, 8- to- 5 over Ed Edmondson; Rhode Island-- John Chafee, Republican, 6- to- 5 over Sen. Cliaborne Pell; South Dakota-- James Abourezk, Democrat, 7- to- 5 over Robert Hirsch; Texas-- Sen. John Tower, Republican, 11- to- 10 over Harold "Barefoot" Sanders, Virginia-- Sen. William Spong, Democrat, 8- to- 5 over William Scott.

The Greek points out that last- minute gains, particularly by Pell in Rhode Island and Sanders in Texas, could change the odds. Indeed, all the underdogs are running close enough to upset the favorites.

-- Safe Bets--

Beyond striking range, in Jimmy's book, are such favorites as Minnesota's Sen. Walter Mondale, who has a 25- to- 1 advantage; Maine's Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, 15- to- 1; Massachusetts' Sen. Edward Brooke, 10- to- 1. More vulnerable but still safe, says Jimmy, are Colorado's Sen. Gordon Allott, 4- to- 1; South Carolina's Sen. Strom Thurmond, 4- to- 1; Tennessee's Sen. Howard Baker, 4- to- 1; Montana's Sen. Lee Metcalf, 3- to- 1; Oregon's Sen. Mark Hatfield, 3- to- 1; and West Virginia's Sen. Jennings Randolph, 3- to- 1.

The closest gubernatorial race-- Republican Otis Bowen vs. Democrat Matthew Welsh in Indiana-- is so close Jimmy can't call it. But he gives slight edges to Democrat Daniel Walker, 11- to- 10 over Gov. Richard Ogilvie in Illinois; Democrat Sherman Tribbitt, 11- to- 10, over Gov. Russell Peterson in Delaware; Democrat Hargrove Bowles, 11- to- 10 over James Holshouse, Jr., in North Carolina; Democrat Jay Rockefeller 11- to- 10 over Gov. Arch Moore in West Virginia; and Republcian Christopher Bond, 8- to- 5 over Edward Dowd in Missouri.

As Jimmy the Greek would say, put up your money and take your choice.

--Police Patsy--

Representative Sam Devine, R— Ohio, one of Congress's most vocal law- and- order men, has been fronting for a police widow's fund that used up 80 per cent of its money on salaries and expenses.

Devine wrote a tear- jerking solicitation letter, pleading that "a slain policeman's widow and child need your care." It brought in well over $100,000 for the United Police Fund.

However, it wasn't the slain policemen's families who got most of the loving care, but veteran conservative fundraisers Pat Gorman and John Colcombe.

Gorman withheld $60,000 of the $105,000 collected. He said most of this went for postage, mailing lists, printing and the like, leaving him a net of only $10,500. Colcombe got another $15,000.

At the United Police Fund, a spokesman acknowledged that expenses had been high and said Gorman had been dropped as the chief fundraiser. The spokesman said $15,000 had actually been given to police widows and another $4,000 would be distributed soon.

Devine, reached on the campaign trail, exploded: "I'm shocked that the majority of the money did not go to the widows and orphans. I hate like hell to be used this way, as a patsy. I can assure you I didn't get a nickel out of it."

Ann Landers

Grandmothers Can Learn From Young

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a teen- ager who feels cheated by my parents. "Out of what?" you might ask. The answer is discipline.

I know this sounds silly but it's true.

My parents thought they were being nice to me by letting me do whatever I wanted. But they were wrong. When I went to the homes of friends and saw them being told what to do, what time to come home, asked questions like "Exactly where are you going and with whom?" I felt cheated. Let down. I wondered why my parents didn't care enough about me to get tough.

I try to do the right thing but it isn't easy when I know I don't have to answer to anybody. I have no respect for my parents because they have no power over me. Kids respect power.

Please tell parents to set up rules and insist that they are obeyed-- or else. And tell them that when kids break the rules to lay it on. Parents who love their kids don't have to worry about not being loved in return. ---On My Own In Oregon

Dear On Your Own: You've said succinctly in one letter what I've been trying to say in hundreds of columns and three books. Thank you.

Dear Ann Landers: This problem is not of grave importance, but it bothers me a great deal and I need to tell someone about it.

I celebrated my 75th birthday last week and my son's wife and his children had a dinner party for me. It was pleasant, as always, but it was like every other dinner. They talked among themselves and I was excluded from the conversation. No one asked me what I thought about anything. I just sat there like a bum on a log. I felt like an outsider. Yet these are my dearest kin and I love them very much. Is this the way it is with other grannies? Please tell me the truth, Ann. ---Speechless

Dear Speech: Why do you feel you must be asked a question before you can express an opinion? If you have something to say you should speak up. Or better still, ask your grandchildren questions about topics that interest YOU. My grandchildren have taught me plenty!

Dear Ann Landers: Eighteen months ago my mother ended nearly 20 years of an unhappy marriage by divorcing my father. It was a quiet divorce and my sister and I chose to live with Mom.

Mom married a wonderful man six months ago. It does our hearts good to see her treated like a human being. Because of all the years Mom and Dad were fighting, or clamming up and not speaking to each other, or sending messages through us kids, I developed a terrible fear of marriage. I kept cutting out your columns about man- and-wife problems so I'd know what to do. You made so much sense I was sure it would come in handy when I was older.

Now I have a scrapbook that goes back nearly ten years. I have profited from your advice and this letter is to thank you.--- Buffalo Girl

Dear Buff: I'm flattered that you would cut out and save my columns for ten years. For those who didn't and would like to see a collection of the best of Ann Landers, I've a published a book called "Truth Is Stranger." It's in paperback and sells for 95 cents. Write to Bantam, 666 Fifth Avenue, New York, New York.

Don't flunk your chemistry test. Love is more than one set of glands calling to another. If you have trouble making a distinction you need Ann's booklet, "Love Or Sex And How To Tell The Difference." Send a long, self- addressed, stamped envelope with your request and 35c in coin to this newspaper.

Miss Recker Is Assistant

COLUMBUS, Miss.-- Miss Mattie Recker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert A. Recker of Sikeston, Mo., has been chosen new student assistant in the personal appearance center at Mississippi State College for Women. She obtained the job by taking an accelerated summer course at modeling school in Forth Worth.

Her job in the PA Center" includes teaching students how to apply make- up.

Miss Recker, a model of tact as well as fashions, said most of the students who come to her want to be "told like it is" about their beauty problems.

Last year, she accompanied the group of MSCW's international modeling squad on a tour of fashion houses in London, Rome and Paris.

At the Forth Worth school, Miss Recker underwent rigorous postgraduate training. She was ordered to lose 15 pounds from her trim 5- ft- 8 1/2- inch figure, her eye make- up was altered and her long dark brown hair lightened to give it "gleam". Clothes and posture were scrutinized.

The student assistant, who is thinking of switching her major from education to merchandising, complied with the school to always be prepared to accept modeling jobs on a moments notice.

Mattie was admitted to advance classes of the professional modeling school because of her training at MSCW.

The director of personal appearance and the mod squad, Mrs. Grayce Hicks, is a graduate of the Texas school.

Lee Crites, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen S. Crites, of 605 Holly Hills Dr. in Sikeston, was one of several students from William Jewell College forensic squad to place in the final rounds of individual events in a speech tournament at Kearney State College in Kearney, Neb. on Oct. 26-28.

Crites specialized in oral interpretation.

To the voters of the 161st Representative District

Francis Hulshof

Candidate

For

State Representative

A nationwide study of state legislatures last year ranked the Missouri legislature 49th, one from the bottom, among all the states in terms of independence from the Governor.

I take this opportunity to announce my candidacy for State Representative because I want to help bring real change to Jefferson City.

My opponent voted against the "Sunshine Bill" which would open all government meetings to the public. He seems more interested in voting for increased tax supported retirement benefits for legislators. I say it's time to retire him now, before it costs the taxpayer another increase in taxes.

So if you want to help bring real change in state government I'd appreciate your support and vote on Nov. 7. Together we can begin to clean things up!

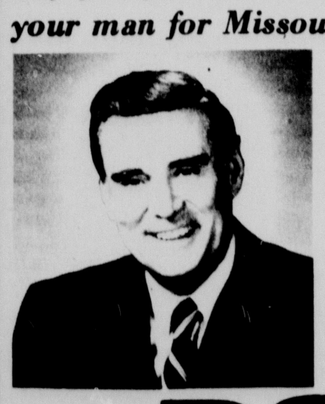
How Do YOU Feel About

Mental Health?

"One out of 10 Missourians are affected in some way by mental health problems . . . . it is vital that we speed up the great advances we have been making in mental health programs." That's how Ed Dowd feels about our mental health programs! He also says, "It is extremely important that those who work in our mental health programs be paid more adequate, competitive wages." If that's the way you feel about mental health , then Ed Dowd's your man for Missouri's Governor.



Sure, the people of Missouri want a change. But we all know a change for change's sake isn't the answer. The real answer lies with a mature man of Ed Dowd's unquestioned good character. The son and grandson of policemen . . . a father who understands . . . a man who didn't inherit a thing except an honest respect for the working man, a compassion for those less fortunate and a sincere willingness to help. We can trust Ed Dowd to do the right thing for all the people. Be sure November 7. Vote for Ed Dowd, Democrat for Governor.

Ann Landers

Grandmothers Can Learn From Young

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a teen- ager who feels cheated by my parents. "Out of what?" you might ask. The answer is discipline.

I know this sounds silly but it's true.

My parents thought they were being nice to me by letting me do whatever I wanted. But they were wrong. When I went to the homes of friends and saw them being told what to do, what time to come home, asked questions like "Exactly where are you going and with whom?" I felt cheated. Let down. I wondered why my parents didn't care enough about me to get tough.

I try to do the right thing but it isn't easy when I know I don't have to answer to anybody. I have no respect for my parents because they have no power over me. Kids respect power.

Please tell parents to set up rules and insist that they are obeyed-- or else. And tell them that when kids break the rules to lay it on. Parents who love their kids don't have to worry about not being loved in return. ---On My Own In Oregon

Dear On Your Own: You've said succinctly in one letter what I've been trying to say in hundreds of columns and three books. Thank you.

Dear Ann Landers: This problem is not of grave importance, but it bothers me a great deal and I need to tell someone about it.

I celebrated my 75th birthday last week and my son's wife and his children had a dinner party for me. It was pleasant, as always, but it was like every other dinner. They talked among themselves and I was excluded from the conversation. No one asked me what I thought about anything. I just sat there like a bum on a log. I felt like an outsider. Yet these are my dearest kin and I love them very much. Is this the way it is with other grannies? Please tell me the truth, Ann. ---Speechless

Dear Speech: Why do you feel you must be asked a question before you can express an opinion? If you have something to say you should speak up. Or better still, ask your grandchildren questions about topics that interest YOU. My grandchildren have taught me plenty!

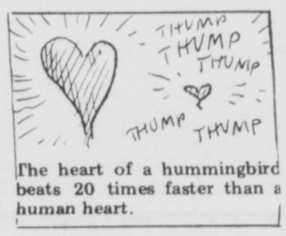
Dear Ann Landers: Eighteen months ago my mother ended nearly 20 years of an unhappy marriage by divorcing my father. It was a quiet divorce and my sister and I chose to live with Mom.

Mom married a wonderful man six months ago. It does our hearts good to see her treated like a human being. Because of all the years Mom and Dad were fighting, or clamming up and not speaking to each other, or sending messages through us kids, I developed a terrible fear of marriage. I kept cutting out your columns about man- and-wife problems so I'd know what to do. You made so much sense I was sure it would come in handy when I was older.

Now I have a scrapbook that goes back nearly ten years. I have profited from your advice and this letter is to thank you.--- Buffalo Girl

Dear Buff: I'm flattered that you would cut out and save my columns for ten years. For those who didn't and would like to see a collection of the best of Ann Landers, I've a published a book called "Truth Is Stranger." It's in paperback and sells for 95 cents. Write to Bantam, 666 Fifth Avenue, New York, New York.

Don't flunk your chemistry test. Love is more than one set of glands calling to another. If you have trouble making a distinction you need Ann's booklet, "Love Or Sex And How To Tell The Difference." Send a long, self- addressed, stamped envelope with your request and 35c in coin to this newspaper.



The heart of a hummingbird beats 20 times faster than a human heart.

Miss Recker Is Assistant In Personal Appearance

RISCO -- Miss Debbie Blough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Blough, has been admitted to the teacher education program at Southwest Missouri State University, according to Robert L. Musgrave, director of supervised teaching.

Debbie is majoring in mathematics and is a 1971 graduate of Malden High School. Admission into the program is based upon the student's strong indications of the qualifications necessary for achieving excellence in the field of teaching.

Miss Recker Is Assistant

COLUMBUS, Miss.-- Miss Mattie Recker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert A. Recker of Sikeston, Mo., has been chosen new student assistant in the personal appearance center at Mississippi State College for Women. She obtained the job by taking an accelerated summer course at modeling school in Forth Worth.

Her job in the PA Center" includes teaching students how to apply make- up.

Miss Recker, a model of tact as well as fashions, said most of the students who come to her want to be "told like it is" about their beauty problems.

Last year, she accompanied the group of MSCW's international modeling squad on a tour of fashion houses in London, Rome and Paris.

At the Forth Worth school, Miss Recker underwent rigorous postgraduate training. She was ordered to lose 15 pounds from her trim 5- ft- 8 1/2- inch figure, her eye make- up was altered and her long dark brown hair lightened to give it "gleam". Clothes and posture were scrutinized.

The student assistant, who is thinking of switching her major from education to merchandising, complied with the school to always be prepared to accept modeling jobs on a moments notice.

Mattie was admitted to advance classes of the professional modeling school because of her training at MSCW.

The director of personal appearance and the mod squad, Mrs. Grayce Hicks, is a graduate of the Texas school.

Lee Crites, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen S. Crites, of 605 Holly Hills Dr. in Sikeston, was one of several students from William Jewell College forensic squad to place in the final rounds of individual events in a speech tournament at Kearney State College in Kearney, Neb. on Oct. 26-28.

Crites specialized in oral interpretation.

To the voters of the 161st Representative District

Francis Hulshof

Candidate

For

State Representative

A nationwide study of state legislatures last year ranked the Missouri legislature 49th, one from the bottom, among all the states in terms of independence from the Governor.

I take this opportunity to announce my candidacy for State Representative because I want to help bring real change to Jefferson City.

My opponent voted against the "Sunshine Bill" which would open all government meetings to the public. He seems more interested in voting for increased tax supported retirement benefits for legislators. I say it's time to retire him now, before it costs the taxpayer another increase in taxes.

So if you want to help bring real change in state government I'd appreciate your support and vote on Nov. 7. Together we can begin to clean things up!

Doctor Develops Home Treatment that
RINSES AWAY BLACKHEADS
HELPS DRY UP ACNE-PIMPLES . . .

QUEEN HELENE MINT JULEP MASQUE 15 MINUTE HOME TREATMENT
MUST SHOW IMMEDIATE IMPROVEMENT OR — YOUR MONEY BACK!

A leading New York Doctor, working with a cosmetic laboratory, has developed a simple home treatment that rinses away blackheads, helps dry up acne pimples, and shrinks enlarged pores. The name of this medicated product is QUEEN HELENE MINT JULEP MASQUE. Apply this delightfully Mint-Scented Cream and within 2 or 3 minutes an absorbing agent called Argilla dries and turns this cream into a plastic-like masque. You will now feel as though hundreds of "tiny fingers" are kneading the skin, loosening pore-caked dirt, blackheads, and other foreign impurities. As it firms and hardens, its suction action draws out waste matter from the pores. . . In 15 minutes you simply rinse the masque away with lukewarm water which dissolves it immediately. When you wipe your face, you can see that blackheads and other pore "filler" actually come off on your wash cloth. And your skin feels clean . . . really clean . . . refreshed, smooth like velvet. Women 35 and over will enjoy the skin tightening experience as the masque relaxes tired facial muscles and eases tension lines on face and throat. If you suffer the agony of blackheads, acne-pimples, and enlarged pores, give yourself this home treatment and see the breath-taking results. Ask for it by name, QUEEN HELENE MINT JULEP MASQUE.

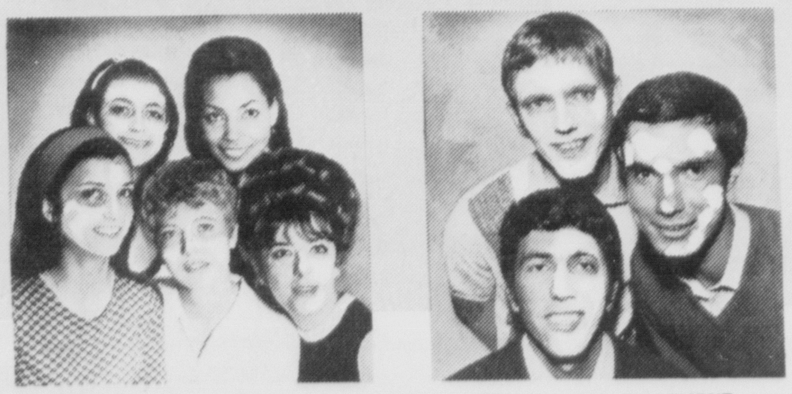
Doctor Develops Home Treatment that

RINSES AWAY BLACKHEADS
HELPS DRY UP ACNE-PIMPLES . . .



QUEEN HELENE MINT JULEP MASQUE 15 MINUTE HOME TREATMENT
MUST SHOW IMMEDIATE IMPROVEMENT OR — YOUR MONEY BACK!

A leading New York Doctor, working with a cosmetic laboratory, has developed a simple home treatment that rinses away blackheads, helps dry up acne pimples, and shrinks enlarged pores. The name of this medicated product is QUEEN HELENE MINT JULEP MASQUE. Apply this delightfully Mint-Scented Cream and within 2 or 3 minutes an absorbing agent called Argilla dries and turns this cream into a plastic-like masque. You will now feel as though hundreds of "tiny fingers" are kneading the skin, loosening pore-caked dirt, blackheads, and other foreign impurities. As it firms and hardens, its suction action draws out waste matter from the pores. . . In 15 minutes you simply rinse the masque away with lukewarm water which dissolves it immediately. When you wipe your face, you can see that blackheads and other pore "filler" actually come off on your wash cloth. And your skin feels clean . . . really clean . . . refreshed, smooth like velvet. Women 35 and over will enjoy the skin tightening experience as the masque relaxes tired facial muscles and eases tension lines on face and throat. If you suffer the agony of blackheads, acne-pimples, and enlarged pores, give yourself this home treatment and see the breath-taking results. Ask for it by name, QUEEN HELENE MINT JULEP MASQUE.

BACK TO THE BIBLE IN OUR PLEA

The churches of Christ are independent congregations of Christians who are trying to do all things according to the Bible. It is believed by most that the Bible is the inspired revelation of God's will for His creation. In the churches of Christ, it is a firm conviction that the Bible was intended to be followed. Those who live, teach, obey, and worship by the Bible will be saved. Those who would change, add to, take from, or substitute the will of God to suit themselves will not be pleasing in His sight (Rev. 22:18-19).

It is on this basis that open Bible study is encouraged. With this basic approach to the Word of God, we believe we will be pleasing in His sight. In doing what the Bible says, we believe we will be right. Human opinion may change, but not God's Word. What was right in the first century church is right today. Methods may change, times may change, attitudes may change but not God's Word.

IN WORSHIP

In worship we believe in doing what was done in the early church. In the first century, Christians believed in prayer.

Prayer was a part of their worship as well as their personal lives. James said that the "fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much" (James 5:16). We believe in the power of prayer to heal the sick (James 5:13-15).

The early church worshipped by a study of the Scriptures. They held the Scriptures to be inspired of God, thus with sacred reverence they were studied, read, memorized, and copied.

The church of the first century remembered the Lord's death in the Lord's Supper every first day of the week (Ac. 20:7 and I Cor. 11:20-34).

These early Christians gave freely of their income to the cause they loved. They, by this freewill offering, always had enough to do the Lord's work. No fund raising plans were needed (I Cor. 16:1-2 and II Cor. 9:7).

The early church sang (Eph. 5:19). The singing was vocal, for by it they taught one another (Col. 3:16). The singing was congregational, not solo. (Heb. 2:12). It was not done to instrumental accompaniment. It was done in spirit and understanding (I Cor. 14:15). It was done in the heart (Eph. 5:19; Col. 3:16). It was a means of praising God. (Heb. 2:12).

IN SALVATION

The early church taught the unbeliever to believe (Ac. 16:31). This was not a doctrine of faith only (James 2:24). The basic believer was taught to repent (Ac. 2:36-38). The penitant believer was taught to confess his belief in Christ (Ac. 8:36-37; Rom. 10:9-10). The one thing specifically mentioned that every person did was to be baptized (Ac. 2:41; 8:12-13; 9:18; 10:48; 16:15; 16:33; 19:5; 22:16. Baptism is a burial in water, (Rom. 6:3-4; Col. 2:12) for the remission of sins (Acts. 2:38; 22:16).

The church of Christ in this area is here for the purpose first century church existed. God chose that through the church might be made known the manifold wisdom of God (Eph. 3:10). Any religious group existing for any other reason must reexamine their purpose in existing. Above any desire to promote a special doctrine we are here to do God's will. It is our goal to do everything God wants and nothing which is forbidden. The only way we know to please God is to study His Word, the Bible and obey its teachings. Our plea is for men to go back to the Bible for their faith and worship. We believe this is the only way to obtain the unity for which our Lord prayed (Jn. 17:20-23). We urge all to enter with us in this plea for doing Bible things in Bible ways and calling Bible things by Bible names. Let us "speak as the oracles of God" (I Pet. 4:11).

BACK TO THE BIBLE IN OUR PLEA

The churches of Christ are independent congregations of Christians who are trying to do all things according to the Bible. It is believed by most that the Bible is the inspired revelation of God's will for His creation. In the churches of Christ, it is a firm conviction that the Bible was intended to be followed. Those who live, teach, obey, and worship by the Bible will be saved. Those who would change, add to, take from, or substitute the will of God to suit themselves will not be pleasing in His sight (Rev. 22:18-19).

It is on this basis that open Bible study is encouraged. With this basic approach to the Word of God, we believe we will be pleasing in His sight. In doing what the Bible says, we believe we will be right. Human opinion may change, but not God's Word. What was right in the first century church is right today. Methods may change, times may change, attitudes may change but not God's Word.

IN WORSHIP

In worship we believe in doing what was done in the early church. In the first century, Christians believed in prayer.

Prayer was a part of their worship as well as their personal lives. James said that the "fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much" (James 5:16). We believe in the power of prayer to heal the sick (James 5:13-15).

The early church worshipped by a study of the Scriptures. They held the Scriptures to be inspired of God, thus with sacred reverence they were studied, read, memorized, and copied.

The church of the first century remembered the Lord's death in the Lord's Supper every first day of the week (Ac. 20:7 and I Cor. 11:20-34).

These early Christians gave freely of their income to the cause they loved. They, by this freewill offering, always had enough to do the Lord's work. No fund raising plans were needed (I Cor. 16:1-2 and II Cor. 9:7).

The early church sang (Eph. 5:19). The singing was vocal, for by it they taught one another (Col. 3:16). The singing was congregational, not solo. (Heb. 2:12). It was not done to instrumental accompaniment. It was done in spirit and understanding (I Cor. 14:15). It was done in the heart (Eph. 5:19; Col. 3:16). It was a means of praising God. (Heb. 2:12).

IN SALVATION

The early church taught the unbeliever to believe (Ac. 16:31). This was not a doctrine of faith only (James 2:24). The basic believer was taught to repent (Ac. 2:36-38). The penitant believer was taught to confess his belief in Christ (Ac. 8:36-37; Rom. 10:9-10). The one thing specifically mentioned that every person did was to be baptized (Ac. 2:41; 8:12-13; 9:18; 10:48; 16:15; 16:33; 19:5; 22:16. Baptism is a burial in water, (Rom. 6:3-4; Col. 2:12) for the remission of sins (Acts. 2:38; 22:16).

The church of Christ in this area is here for the purpose first century church existed. God chose that through the church might be made known the manifold wisdom of God (Eph. 3:10). Any religious group existing for any other reason must reexamine their purpose in existing. Above any desire to promote a special doctrine we are here to do God's will. It is our goal to do everything God wants and nothing which is forbidden. The only way we know to please God is to study His Word, the Bible and obey its teachings. Our plea is for men to go back to the Bible for their faith and worship. We believe this is the only way to obtain the unity for which our Lord prayed (Jn. 17:20-23). We urge all to enter with us in this plea for doing Bible things in Bible ways and calling Bible things by Bible names. Let us "speak as the oracles of God" (I Pet. 4:11).

Hayes Brothers Outrun Dogs

A one-yard quarterback sneak with just 18 seconds left, gave the Poplar Bluff Mules a 14-8 Northern Division win over the hapless Sikeston Bulldogs Friday night at Public School Stadium.

The loss gave this year's Bulldog team the dubious distinction of tying for the worst SHS conference standing since 1929, sixth place. Sikeston also finished sixth two years ago. The Dogs now cannot finish above .500, as their mark is 3-6 with one game left. They finished 1-5 in conference play.

The Bulldogs came into the contest missing five starters, mostly through injuries. The two most missed were senior linebacker Roy Yarber and star split end Glen Guttenfelder.

Guttenfelder, a big chunk of the Sikeston offense, broke his ankle while engaging in a light Thursday practice. The injury ruins his chances for the school receiving record, leaving him eight catches short. Other starters missing were Rick Love, Richard Blankenship and Jessie Smith.

The Mules, averaging 28 pounds per man heavier than Sikeston, used the power and speed of the Hayes brothers, J. B. and Tuttie, to keep possession of the ball and dominate the statistics. However, a quick burst up the middle by tailback Benny Holt was also instrumental in the Bulldog demise.

On a first down play, Holt burst up the middle for 13 yards to the Sikeston two. Although the Dogs held for a play, sophomore quarterback, John Casey, took the pigskin over on the second to give the Mules their fifth win against four losses.

Sikeston held the lead for most of the second half. The first quarter was all Bluff. The Mules tripled Sikeston's offensive output and held a 7-0 lead on a two-yard run by Tuttie Hayes, which capped an 85-yard drive on 12 plays. The fleet junior carried the oval for 51 of those yards.

Midway through the second quarter, quarterback Bill Colwick plunged over from a half-yard out to pull Sikeston within one, 7-6. Then the 185-pound signal-caller flipped a pass to flanker Rick Eisenbach for the two-point conversion to give Sikeston 8-7 lead which stood for two and a half quarters.

The final Poplar Bluff drive started inconspicuously. Casey lost three yards, then lost another eight trying to pass. The fired-up Bulldog defense plunged in on third down and Casey flipped a flare pass to tight end Robert Ladd. the 175-pounder took the pass and moved it 28 yards for a first down.

Then, on first down, Hurley Rainey took a pitchout on an end-around play and, with the defense rushing up to stop the run, the loan end threw the ball far downfield. Junior halfback Steve Cash dropped the ball in the end zone.

Sikeston fans drew a deep breath even though a penalty gave Poplar Bluff a second-and-five. Casey ran for a first down on the next play, then Holt ran the ball to the two on the following play.

From there, it took just two plays for the Mules to beat the Bulldogs for the 14th time in the series between the two. Sikeston has won 32 times.

Leading the Sikeston offense again was Curtis Bean. He ran for 83 yards and was the only consistent ball-carrier for the Dogs. The Sikeston air attack was depleted by the absence of Guttenfelder. Special attention was given flanker Rick Eisenbach and no one else playing had any experience.

The big story was the defense, since it was on the field most of the night. Bean, playing safety, was devastating in keeping the wide receivers from being effective. No Bluff wide receiver caught a pass. All three catches were on short look-in passes. Also playing fine games on defense were tackle Mike Irwin, defensive back Eisenbach, defensive end Aaron Yarber and defensive linebacker Shane Waggoner.

The season will come to a close next week when the Bulldogs meet Union City, Tenn.

The young Sikeston team does have a future. Thirty-three of the 41 players on the roster will be returning next year. But all 41 want to win next week, for pride. And that is something Coach Pete Cirrintano has implanted in his football proteges this year.

GLENN GUTTENDFELDER, star receiver for the Sikeston High School football team, sat isolated on the bench Friday night after a broken ankle in Thursday's practice ended his Bulldog career.

Pirates Lose, 17-6

PERRYVILLE — Jackson took home a football victory Friday night over Perryville 17-6.

Teddy Leimer gave the Indians a 7-0 edge in the first quarter when he scored on a 69-yard run. Rob Litz kicked the extra point.

Perryville cut the score to 7-6 when quarterback Roger Brewer took the ball over from the two-yard line on a sneak. However, Jackson pulled away again when Litz kicked a nine-yard field goal which put the score at half 10-6.

The third quarter remained scoreless. With nine seconds to go in the final quarter, Mark Jones scored from the four-yard line and it was Litz again with the extra point for the final 17-6 margin.

Schermann Scores

CHARLESTON- Paul Schermann padded his Southeast Missouri individual scoring leadership with a pair of long touchdowns Friday night in leading Cape Girardeau Central to a 42- 0 blanking of the Charleston Blue jays. It was the fourth shutout for Cape this season.

Schermann, who had 116 points going into the night, broke loose for a 56- yard scoring jaunt in the first period and a few minutes later hauled in a Bill Seabaugh pass for a 65- yard score to head his Bengal teammates toward a 35- 0 first half lead.

Seabaugh scored the third TD of the first period on a three- yard drive, then maneuvered his teammates down close to the goal in the second period where Steve Taylor plunged over from one yard out and Tim Vickery raced in from three yards out.

Jim Willis ended the Tigers' offensive production with a five- yard dash in the fourth quarter.

Jeff Hutton split the uprights six times to run his season total to 36 extra points.

Indians Scalped

DEXTER-- The Dexter Bearcats scored two touchdowns in both the second and third quarters and added another in the final period as they rolled to a 35- 0 victory over Kennett.

In the second quarter, Stan Burnett ran in from the four for Dexter's first TD. Don Backfish ran it in for a two- point conversion. Later in the quarter, Backfish dove over from the one for Dexter's second touchdown, and Alan McRoy added the PAT.

In the third quarter Allan Brown, who led Dexter with 80 yards in eight carries scored on a 37- yard touchdown run. McRoy ran in the two- point conversion.

Allen England's 45- yard return of an interception accounted for Dexter's fourth TD. The extra point was no good.

Dexter's final score came in the final period with Vic Trammell running back another errant Kennett pass 55 yards for a touchdown.

England and McRoy played outstanding games for the Dexter defensive unit which sparkled all night. England had 14 unassisted tackles and two interceptions and McRoy had nine unassisted tackles to his credit.

Tigers Hold On

CARUTHERSVILLE-- Caruthersville scored all of its 21 points in the first quarter Friday night and went on to pick up a 21- 16 gridiron over Chaffee.

Clarence Cunningham scored on plunges of one and three yards and Jerry Cagle scored on a quarterback sneak to provide the host team's touchdowns.

Chaffee failed to score until the final period when Glastedden scored twice on three- yard runs, and the Red Devils added two- point conversions each time.

The game was highlighted by a third- quarter fight in which Caruthersville quarterback Cagle was ejected.

Eagles Win !

EAST PRAIRIE--- East Prairie ran away with its only victory of the season Friday night by defeating Gideon 41- 14.

East Prairie started off in the first quarter with a 35- yard scoring run by Annise Davis and Bard kicking the extra point. When Gideon fumbled, Van Farmer was there to grab the ball and take it in from the eight- yard line. Bard was again successful in making the extra point.

In the second quarter, Steve Husk threw a pass to Farmer who ran 39 yards for a touchdown. The Eagles again scored when Terry Morton slipped in from the one with Bard making both of the extra points.

East Prairie continued moving in the third quarter. Steve Secoy scored an eight- yard run and the extra point was no good. Secoy again scored, this time from the three and Bard made his fifth successful extra- point attempt.

Gideon came up with its only scores in the fourth quarter. Keith Maddox took the ball in from the six and the Bulldogs failed in their try for a two- point conversion. Joey Gilkey scored from the one and Steve Hawkins made the two- point conversion but it was all over for Gideon.

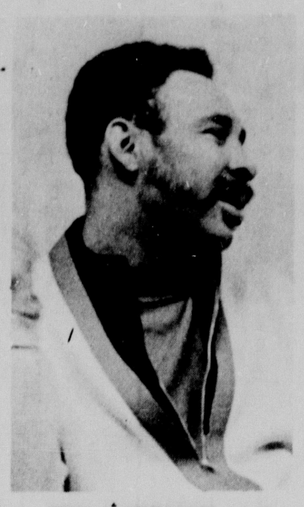
Davis finished with 170 yards in 15 carries for East Prairie.

Rams Prevail

SCOTT CITY — Illmo - Scott City came up with a big win over Portageville 7-0 in Friday night football action. This kept the Rams unbeaten in nine games.

It was a good solid game for both teams. The first half failed to produce any score as did the third quarter when both teams had a chance to take the ball over. However, that quarter remained scoreless, also.

Scott City came up with a score in the fourth quarter when Morgan ran 20 yards for a touchdown. Glen Ward made it 7-0 when he kicked the extra point.



TEX HARRISON of the Harlem Globetrotters discusses the world's most famous basketball team.

Globetrotters Headed For Moon

By RON PORTER

The Harlem Globetrotters will be the first organized sports team to travel to the moon.

That's the promise of Tex Harrison, an advanceman and player for the Globetrotters, who was in Sikeston earlier this week to promote the team's upcoming appearance.

The Globetrotters will perform their basketball magic starting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the high school fieldhouse.

The moon trip promise was made in the form of a bet between Harrison and another man.

"If they ever get a moonship (to take us)," he said,"we're going."

Harrison said he has played with the Globetrotters in 89 different countries.

He's had tea with Queen Elizabeth and Prince Phillip, caviar with Nikita Khrushchev, sacrament with two Popes and shaken hands with presidents from all over the world.

The lure of world travel is what prompts many young men to join the Globetrotters, Harrison said. The money a team member earns is comparable to what he can earn in the National or American Basketball Associations.

But not for everybody. Harrison said the Globetrotters offered Kareem Abdul Jabbar $1.5 million to play for them. He went to the Milwaukee Bucks instead for considerably more.

The Globetrotters have no lack of recruits, although finding just the right type of man to play with them is sometimes difficult, Harrison said.

What the Globetrotters look for, he said, is a good ball player first and a showman second.

They have had little trouble finding good men. Wilt Chamberlain of the Los Angeles Lakers is a former Globetrotter, as is Connie Hawkins of the Phoenix Suns.

A man who will play at the fieldhouse Wednesday, Haynes, has returned to the team after an absence of 20 years.

Haynes, now in his 40s, is reputed to be the world's greatest dribbler.

The Globetrotter future looks every bit as rosey as its past.

The Globetrotters will begin filming a television series this spring called, "The Harlem Globetrotters Popcorn Machine." The pilot film will be shown around the first of the year.

The Globetrotters are already the subjects of a popular Saturday morning cartoon series.

The team will also have its annual television special aired later this year.

The team's appearance is sponsored by the Lions Club.

THE TAX ISSUE: Dowd vs Bond

IS KIT'S WORD HIS BOND?

A close review of his actions and statements are making a lot of Missourians—Republicans and Democrats and Independents—wonder about Kit Bond.

An example: The St. Louis Post Dispatch feels there should be additional state revenue raised to pay for rapid transit systems for St. Louis and Kansas City. In an interview with Post reporter Fred Lindecke, Kit said he proposed paying for the cities' transit systems by applying a state-wide tax on gasoline. The Post liked that. They endorsed Kit for Governor.

But the people who didn't like the idea of a tax increase called Kit to task. He issued a statement in outstate Missouri saying he was really for a local option as opposed to a state-wide tax increase. Then Ed Dowd took Kit to task for advocating a tax increase when he admitted to the Missouri Supreme Court that he neither filed nor paid Missouri taxes for several years. Kit then told the voters Dowd misrepresented his position on a tax increase . . . but still has not charged the Post with misquoting him on his proposal to increase taxes.

So in the closing weeks of the campaign, Kit's message on taxes will vary depending on where you live.

FOR URBAN VOTERS ONLY:

If you live in St. Louis and Kansas City, Kit's telling you we can divert gas taxes from our highways (he endorsed the $720 million dollar bond issue) plus add a state-wide tax on gasoline and that's how we will build mass transit for our cities.

FOR NON-URBAN VOTERS:

If you live outside St. Louis and Kansas City, Kit's telling you he's for a local option tax on gasoline that would be used to just tax the city voters.

FOR VOTERS THAT DON'T WANT MORE TAXES:

If you meet Kit and tell him you think taxes are high enough already, he will tell you he agrees and has no idea where Ed Dowd got the idea that Kit Bond proposed an increase in taxes.

If you are a voter tired of Bond's double talk on taxes and don't know what to believe, believe this—Ed Dowd has said in the primary and in the general campaigns on television, radio and in the newspapers that he has one position on taxes: He is flatly opposed to any kind of tax increase.

YOU CAN WONDER ABOUT BOND BUT YOU CAN BELIEVE ED DOWD.

Schermann Scores

CHARLESTON– Paul Schermann padded his Southeast Missouri individual scoring leadership with a pair of long touchdowns Friday night in leading Cape Girardeau Central to a 42- 0 blanking of the Charleston Blue jays. It was the fourth shutout for Cape this season.

Schermann, who had 116 points going into the night, broke loose for a 56- yard scoring jaunt in the first period and a few minutes later hauled in a Bill Seabaugh pass for a 65- yard score to head his Bengal teammates toward a 35- 0 first half lead.

Seabaugh scored the third TD of the first period on a three- yard drive, then maneuvered his teammates down close to the goal in the second period where Steve Taylor plunged over from one yard out and Tim Vickery raced in from three yards out.

Jim Willis ended the Tigers' offensive production with a five- yard dash in the fourth quarter.

Jeff Hutton split the uprights six times to run his season total to 36 extra points.

Indians Scalped

DEXTER-- The Dexter Bearcats scored two touchdowns in both the second and third quarters and added another in the final period as they rolled to a 35- 0 victory over Kennett.

In the second quarter, Stan Burnett ran in from the four for Dexter's first TD. Don Backfish ran it in for a two- point conversion. Later in the quarter, Backfish dove over from the one for Dexter's second touchdown, and Alan McRoy added the PAT.

In the third quarter Allan Brown, who led Dexter with 80 yards in eight carries scored on a 37- yard touchdown run. McRoy ran in the two- point conversion.

Allen England's 45- yard return of an interception accounted for Dexter's fourth TD. The extra point was no good.

Dexter's final score came in the final period with Vic Trammell running back another errant Kennett pass 55 yards for a touchdown.

England and McRoy played outstanding games for the Dexter defensive unit which sparkled all night. England had 14 unassisted tackles and two interceptions and McRoy had nine unassisted tackles to his credit.

Tigers Hold On

CARUTHERSVILLE-- Caruthersville scored all of its 21 points in the first quarter Friday night and went on to pick up a 21- 16 gridiron over Chaffee.

Clarence Cunningham scored on plunges of one and three yards and Jerry Cagle scored on a quarterback sneak to provide the host team's touchdowns.

Chaffee failed to score until the final period when Glastedden scored twice on three- yard runs, and the Red Devils added two- point conversions each time.

The game was highlighted by a third- quarter fight in which Caruthersville quarterback Cagle was ejected.

Eagles Win !

EAST PRAIRIE--- East Prairie ran away with its only victory of the season Friday night by defeating Gideon 41- 14.

East Prairie started off in the first quarter with a 35- yard scoring run by Annise Davis and Bard kicking the extra point. When Gideon fumbled, Van Farmer was there to grab the ball and take it in from the eight- yard line. Bard was again successiul in making the extra point.

In the second quarter, Steve Husk threw a pass to Farmer who ran 39 yards for a touchdown. The Eagles again scored when Terry Morton slipped in from the one with Bard making both of the extra points.

East Prairie continued moving in the third quarter. Steve Secoy scored an eight- yard run and the extra point was no good. Secoy again scored, this time from the three and Bard made his fifth successful extra- point attempt.

Gideon came up with its only scores in the fourth quarter. Keith Maddox took the ball in from the six and the Bulldogs failed in their try for a two- point conversion. Joey Gilkey scored from the one and Steve Hawkins made the two- point conversion but it was all over for Gideon.

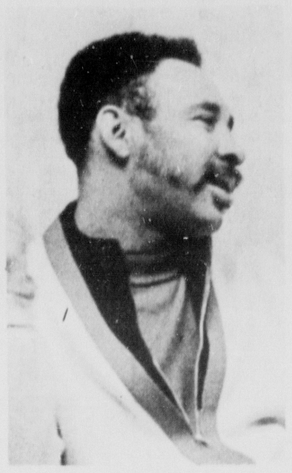
Davis finished with 170 yards in 15 carries for East Prairie.

Rams Prevail

SCOTT CITY — Illmo - Scott City came up with a big win over Portageville 7-0 in Friday night football action. This kept the Rams unbeaten in nine games.

It was a good solid game for both teams. The first half failed to produce any score as did the third quarter when both teams had a chance to take the ball over. However, that quarter remained scoreless, also.

Scott City came up with a score in the fourth quarter when Morgan ran 20 yards for a touchdown. Glen Ward made it 7-0 when he kicked the extra point.



TEX HARRISON of the Harlem Globetrotters discusses the world's most famous basketball team.

Globetrotters Headed For Moon

By RON PORTER

The Harlem Globetrotters will be the first organized sports team to travel to the moon.

That's the promise of Tex Harrison, an advanceman and player for the Globetrotters, who was in Sikeston earlier this week to promote the team's upcoming appearance.

The Globetrotters will perform their basketball magic starting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the high school fieldhouse.

The moon trip promise was made in the form of a bet between Harrison and another man.

"If they ever get a moonship (to take us)," he said,"we're going."

Harrison said he has played with the Globetrotters in 89 different countries.

He's had tea with Queen Elizabeth and Prince Phillip, caviar with Nikita Khrushchev, sacrament with two Popes and shaken hands with presidents from all over the world.

The lure of world travel is what prompts many young men to join the Globetrotters, Harrison said. The money a team member earns is comparable to what he can earn in the National or American Basketball Associations.

But not for everybody. Harrison said the Globetrotters offered Kareem Abdul Jabbar $1.5 million to play for them. He went to the Milwaukee Bucks instead for considerably more.

Soybean Growers Have New Weapon Against Nematodes

By JOE H. SCOTT
STATE EXTENSION AGRONOMY SPECIALIST

PORTAGEVILLE — Soybean growers in the Missouri Bootheel now have a new weapon under state label, at their disposal for control of race three and race four soybean cyst nematodes, in the opinion of Dr. Charles H. Baldwin, Jr., assistantprofessor of plant pathology at the University of Missouri Delta Center at Portageville.

"We have got to have a new weapon in this situation, where we have race three and race four nematodes," he said, "and results obtained in our 1971 exerimental trials and demonstrations are definitely encouraging."

Dr. Baldwin has data from three demonstrations in which he applied Fumazone 86 nematicide at different rates in four- row strips through fields a quarter- mile long.

"Our demonstrations have shown that we can get from five to 10 more bushels per acre by using Fumazone under average field conditions," he said. "When we get into higher infestation areas we can get a 15- bushel per acre increase and this is where yields normally would be only eight bushels per acre."

He feels that farmers ought to be able to treat soybean land for about $6 per acre, which means that if soybeans are worth $3 to $3.50 per bushel it only takes two extra bushels of beans per acre to pay for the fumigation and the grower should realize from three to 10 bushels per acre extra profit.

Male koala bears are said to keep a harem.

SeMo Dairymen Will Discuss Raising Dairy Replacements

PERRYVILLE — Dairymen in Southeast Missouri will meet, dine, and discuss topics important to their future business. The main topic for the session will be "Raising Dairy Replacements". Similar meetings are being conducted in other parts of Missouri during the fall and winter.

The average Missouri dairy cow only lives 4.5 years, according to Fred Meinershagen, state dairyman, University of Missouri-Columbia. This means approximately 25 per cent of the dairy herd will be replaced each year. Even more replacements are needed if culling for production or herd expansion is planned.

If 15 per cent of replacements die, there will not be enough good animals to fill the herd needs. Most herds in Missouri lose this many or more annually. The investment in first calf heifers is approximately $400 and up, representing one of the dairyman's greatest costs. This points up how important it is to do the best job possible in selecting and raising dairy herd replacements, Meinershagen stated.

Among the topics to be discussed are: new developments in calf raising; successful dairy replacement raising programs; raising replacements as a business; and disease prevention. Dairymen are urged to attend the session or send their wife or hired hand. A Michigan State survey revealed that wives are the best calf raisers, but hired hands have the poorest record.

Each meeting will begin at 10 a.m. and end at 2:30 p.m. A dutch treat luncheon will be served. Locations are at Frohna on Tuesday, Nov.14, at West End Tavern; Farmington, Nov. 15, at Ozark Village Restaurant; Perryville, Nov. 16, at Intersection Cafe; and Jackson, Nov. 17, at Wayside Inn.

Outdoor Laboratories Enrich Land Learning

By DON BENEFIELD

BENTON — What is an outdoor classroom or laboratory? It can be any property controlled by the board of education that is accessible to students and that may be used to enrich learning about soil and water relationships and plant and animal life. These areas are referred to as lands for learning.

A land laboratory may vary in size from a small area close around a school building to an area of many acres.

Land laboratories can be used by pupils and teachers at all grade levels. There are usually opportunities for nature study, for observing the effects of plants, and for many kinds of experimentations. All of this can be coupled with developing an appreciation for the out-of-doors.

Most school sites have within their boundaries some outdoor education areas. Most areas can be made operative at relatively low cost.

Management of natural resources depends on an appreciation of man's interdependence with his environment and understanding of realistic principles of natural resource use. Such appreciation and understanding can best be developed in children.

The Soil Conservatiion Service in Scott County can be of help if you are interested in an outdoor laboratory for you school.

OIL AND GAS PROBABLE IN GULF

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department says that scientists report a highly favorable area for gas and oil in the western Gulf of Mexico.

Scientists of the U.S. Geological Survey, working with Mexican agencies and institutions, plotted a 2,400-mile, zig-zag course between Corpus Christi and Campeche, Mexico.

The expedition was to provide information about the little-known geological framework of the continental shelf off eastern Mexico and its relationship to onshore areas also mapped.

The profiles acquired during the cruise revealed marked changes in the geological character of the shelf which generally correspond to the features that separate basins of thick, 12 to 15 million-year-old sedimentary deposits that may contain important petroleum and natural gas, said Dr. Erk Reimnitz, an expedition co-leader.

Soybean Growers Have New Weapon Against Nematodes

By JOE H. SCOTT
STATE EXTENSION AGRONOMY SPECIALIST

PORTAGEVILLE — Soybean growers in the Missouri Bootheel now have a new weapon under state label, at their disposal for control of race three and race four soybean cyst nematodes, in the opinion of Dr. Charles H. Baldwin, Jr., assistantprofessor of plant pathology at the University of Missouri Delta Center at Portageville.

"We have got to have a new weapon in this situation, where we have race three and race four nematodes," he said, "and results obtained in our 1971 exerimental trials and demonstrations are definitely encouraging."

Dr. Baldwin has data from three demonstrations in which he applied Fumazone 86 nematicide at different rates in four- row strips through fields a quarter- mile long.

"Our demonstrations have shown that we can get from five to 10 more bushels per acre by using Fumazone under average field conditions," he said. "When we get into higher infestation areas we can get a 15- bushel per acre increase and this is where yields normally would be only eight bushels per acre."

He feels that farmers ought to be able to treat soybean land for about $6 per acre, which means that if soybeans are worth $3 to $3.50 per bushel it only takes two extra bushels of beans per acre to pay for the fumigation and the grower should realize from three to 10 bushels per acre extra profit.

SeMo Dairymen Will Discuss Raising Dairy Replacements

PERRYVILLE — Dairymen in Southeast Missouri will meet, dine, and discuss topics important to their future business. The main topic for the session will be "Raising Dairy Replacements". Similar meetings are being conducted in other parts of Missouri during the fall and winter.

The average Missouri dairy cow only lives 4.5 years, according to Fred Meinershagen, state dairyman, University of Missouri-Columbia. This means approximately 25 per cent of the dairy herd will be replaced each year. Even more replacements are needed if culling for production or herd expansion is planned.

If 15 per cent of replacements die, there will not be enough good animals to fill the herd needs. Most herds in Missouri lose this many or more annually. The investment in first calf heifers is approximately $400 and up, representing one of the dairyman's greatest costs. This points up how important it is to do the best job possible in selecting and raising dairy herd replacements, Meinershagen stated.

Among the topics to be discussed are: new developments in calf raising; successful dairy replacement raising programs; raising replacements as a business; and disease prevention. Dairymen are urged to attend the session or send their wife or hired hand. A Michigan State survey revealed that wives are the best calf raisers, but hired hands have the poorest record.

Each meeting will begin at 10 a.m. and end at 2:30 p.m. A dutch treat luncheon will be served. Locations are at Frohna on Tuesday, Nov.14, at West End Tavern; Farmington, Nov. 15, at Ozark Village Restaurant; Perryville, Nov. 16, at Intersection Cafe; and Jackson, Nov. 17, at Wayside Inn.

Citizens Earning Income Outside State Must File Missouri Return

JEFFERSON CITY-- Director of Revenue James E. Schaffner has issued a warning to Missouri taxpayers that they must file a Missouri State Income Tax Return, regardless of whether their income was earned in another state and taxes were paid to that state.

Schaffner referred to Section 143.010 of the Revised Statutes of the State of Missouri, which reads:

"Every single individual, a citizen or resident of this state having a gross income in excess of $1,200, and every married couple, citizens or residents of this state having a gross income in excess of $2,400, shall file an income tax return or returns, and pay a tax upon net income received, from all sources during the preceding year in excess of the exemptions herein provided."

Schaffner said Missouri citizens residing or earning income outside the state, including military personnel, are required by law to file a Missouri State Income Tax Return.

Under those conditions, he said, a Missouri return must be filed reporting all income from all sources. The taxpayer could then deduct the net income on which taxes were paid in another state. He would not be taxed twice on the same income, but would pay only the amount of taxes, if any, which would properly be owed to the State of Missouri.

"Obviously," Schaffner said, "this warning is being issued as a result of recent statements by State Auditor Christopher S. (Kit) Bond to the effect that it is not necessary to file a return under the conditions cited. I hesitate to inject myself into a matter where Mr. Bond will characterize my comments as a political attack, but as the chief administrator of our tax laws, I cannot allow the false impression to be spread that some persons are exempt from the law requiring the filing of a tax return.

"We now receive many tax returns each year from persons who owe no taxes to the state, but they do comply with the law by filing legal proof of their income and deductions. If this were not done, the result would be complete chaos.

"The situation in Missouri is no different than in other states or in connection with federal income taxes. Each citizen must file a return listing all particulars about his income and the taxes owed, if any.

"With regard to Mr. Bond, he established by Supreme Court decision that he has been continuously a Missouri citizen, yet he admitted both to the Supreme Court and in public statements that he filed no State Income Tax Returns for the years 1964, 1965 and 1966.

"He has now made a public statement that he did not file those returns because the accounting firm which handles his financial records, Haskins and Sells of St. Louis, felt it was not necessary. The firm was quoted as saying in a letter that "We believe . . . you would not have been liable for Missouri income taxes for those years."

"If the matter occurred as he and his tax advisors said it did, then the firm of Haskins and Sells has performed a disservice to the accounting profession and Mr. Bond likewise has brought discredit upon the legal profession by taking the position that a Missouri citizen did not have to file a Missouri return. It does not matter whether they "believe" any taxer were owed. The law requires the filing of a complete tax form to prove what is or is not owed.

"All qualified accounting firms, tax consultants and lawyers should be fully aware of the fact that a citizen of this state residing, earning income and paying income taxes in another state is required to file a Missouri tax return regardless of whether additional taxes would be owed to Missouri. Both Mr. Bond and the firm of Haskins and Sells fall into this category of people who should be aware of the law.

"I do not quarrel with Mr. Bond's statement that he owed no taxes to Missouri. This might very well be true. But the whole point is that he failed to prove as, required by law, that he owed no taxes. In the absence of a tax return, the government now has no way of knowing whether he and his accounting firm computed his tax status without making any errors. While other citizens file both state and federal returns, he chose to bypass the state and let it assume he owed no taxes.

"The government cannot be expected to make such assumptions. Both state and federal laws require filed returns in order that there might be sworn, legal proof as to the individual citizen's tax status.

"The statute of limitations has expired in Mr. Bond's case and no legal action is possible, but let there be no misunderstanding of the fact that the actions he had publicly admitted did constitute a violation of the law.

"His situtation is now one of personal conscience, not subject to legal action by the state, and he knows very well that I had left the matter there by refraining from further public comment. I would have continued to remain silent, had he not had the audacity to imply through public statements that it is proper for a citizen to fail to file a return if he believes he does not owe taxes to the state.

"That simply is not true, and I am therefore issuing this warning that any citizen in similar circumstances who fails to file a return will be subject to the full penalties provided by law.

"I am further ordering that this warning be mailed as an official directive from the State of Missouri to tax practitioners operating in the State, advising them of the continuing applicability and enforcement of Section 153.010 and all related tax laws of the State of Missouri."

Two Million Voters Expected To Cast Ballots In Missouri

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Amidst predictions of widespread ticket splitting and a sweep of the state by President Nixon, about 2 million Missouri voters will cast ballots Tuesday.

They will choose 10 congressmen, a governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, attorney general, state treasurer, 17 state senators, 163 state representatives and some judges as well as county officers.

There are clear favorites in many races. Few bets were being taken in the Capitol on two: the governor's race and the 6th Congressional District race in northwest Missouri.

Christopher S. Bond, 33-yearold state auditor, seeks to become the first Republican elected governor since Forrest C. Donnell, now 88 and still practicing law in St. Louis, was elected in 1940.

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, a Democrat, leaves office in January after serving two 4year terms.

Bond failed to unseat Congressman William L. Hungate in 1968 and was elected auditor in 1970.

The Democratic candidate is Edward L. Dowd, 54, a Catholic and father of eight who lost in the lieutenant governor's primary race in 1968 to Lt. Gov. William S. Morris. But Dowd beat Morris and eight other candidates in the Aug. 8 primary.

The hottest congressional race involves Republican Russell Sloan, 34, former football coach at Northeast Missouri State College at Kirksville, against Chillicothe cattle rancher Jerry Litton, a 35-year-old Democrat.

Bond has pegged his campaign to a theme for change, attacking state government patronage and what he calls the "spoils system." All other GOP state office seekers have echoed that line.

Bond, making a point to release explicit lists of contributions and expenditures, has proposed a state ethics and elections commission.

He wants a Missouri Bureau of Investigation set up under the future Department of Public Safety. He has proposed a lobbying office for Missouri in Washington, state subsidies for community recycling centers, regional correctional facilities, a "modified" form of no-fault auto insurance and a change in the handling of state tax collections.

He sais the state needs no increase in taxes because of federal revenue sharing and a general fund surplus caused by a "miscalculation by the current administration."

Education in poor areas would be the first priority of spending revenue sharing funds, Bond says. He favors increasing state support for schools to relieve the burden on local property taxes. He also favors a "super" board to govern all of Missouri's higher education.

Dowd's first priority would be aid for the elderly. He has reserved judgment on no-fault insurance. He says government reorganization can save $50 million and also is for putting all employes under the merit system.

A former president of the St. Louis Police Board and former FBI agent, Dowd favors a Missouri Bureau of Investigation under a nonpartisan board.

He has made a policy of not discussing any replacements, while Bond says he wants to replace the director of revenue, director of agriculture, director of planning and construction, comptroller and maybe others.

Newspaper polls have shown Dowd leading in St. Louis and Kansas City and Bond leading everywhere else, even in heavily Democratic southeast Missouri.

Nixon has led polls everywhere in the state. But Harry Wiggins, state chairman for George McGovern and Sargent Shriver, predicts McGovern will carry the state.

Nixon beat Hubert Humphrey by 20,000 votes here in 1968. McGovern's liberal stances have hurt him in Missouri, but his dumping of Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton of Missouri as his running mate has hurt more.

Charges and counter-charges have marked the campaign.

The Republicans have tried unsuccessfully to link the Democratic candidates with the "Democratic political machine in Jefferson City."

Bond and Atty. Gen. John C. Danfort eliminated the party designations from application forms in their offices and point to the fact that about 3,000 employes are still hired under the patronage system.

Dowd said Bond fired all the Democrats when he became auditor. Bond says his 80-member office has 18 Democrats. Danforth has 90 employes, about 45 per cent of them Democrats.

Bond's campaign manager has accused Dowd's people of spreading rumors such as Bond backing McGovern. The Democrats say Republicans may have sent somebody to the Springfield area to promise bigname speakers for Democrats—such as Peter Lawford— and then disappeared when the big-names were no-shows.

Bond's people made an issue of Dowd advertisements saying Bond admitted he didn't pay income tax and that Bond backed the doomed transportation bond issue, which would have given gasoline tax money to the cities for rapid transit.

Dowd said he has documents to back up his advertisements, including state Supreme Court stipulations Bond made during the court test of his residency, which Bond won.

Danforth, 36, favored in the newspaper polls for re-election, has concentrated his campaign on behalf of Bond. Lately, Danforth has campaigned on his record in the attorney general's office. State Rep. James E. Spain, 37, D-Bloomfield, is his opponent in a "David vs. Goliath" campaign.

Danforth has the advantage of plenty of money and the fact that he is the incumbent. He is eastern educated while Spain, a man of modest means from the Bootheel, attended Southeast Missouri State College and the University of Missouri law school.

In the lieutenant governor's race, it's east vs. west, with the east showing ahead in most of the polls. State Rep. Jack J. Schramm, 40, University City, the Democrat, has campaigned on a broad platform and says he would maintain a law office in St. Louis if elected.

The office traditionally has been one where the lieutenant governor practices law parttime.

Republican William C. Phelps, 38, a state House member for 12 years from Kansas City, says he would be a fulltime lieutenant governor whereas Schramm wouldn't. Phelps also has warned that if Bond is elected, Bond would have troubles with a Democratic second man.

Rep. George W. Parker, 49, a retired Air Force major from Columbia, promises to "clean up" the treasurer's office and wants to eliminate the practice of keeping short-term no-interest accounts in "favored" banks.

His Democratic opponent, James I. Spainhower of Jefferson City, wants to make the grab for state accounts more competitive and wants to selectively invest state money in depressed areas.

Parker says he can't do that with short-term loans, and the state couldn't make long-term loans.

Spainhower, 43, is a former state representative and is a professor of government at Lincoln University and a Christian Church minister.

Secretary of State James C. Kirkpatrick, 68-year-old Democrat, has been campaigning on his record. One of his major proposals is to get statewide voter registration.

He is opposed by 36-year-old Harold "Wheels" Kuehle, revenue collector for Cape Girardeau County. Kuehle has criticized Kirkpatrick's office for not cracking down on voter fraud in St. Louis County and on legislators who run for office in one district while living in another.

Kirkpatrick says the first problem is up to the St. Louis County prosecutor and the second is up to the attorney general.

Kuehle got his nickname because he has been confined to a wheelchair since he suffered a football injury in high school.

Political observers say anything can happen in the LittonSloan race. The district represents 23 counties and is urban, suburban and rural. It is about evenly split between Democrats and Republicans.

Litton talks the language of the farmer. Sloan, whose youth group is called the "Rolling Sloans," is the only major office candidate in Missouri with a crewcut. He favors a "let's win" policy in Vietnam. Litton, a conservative Democrat, says that avoiding another Vietnam is more important than placing blame.

They seek the seat vacated by retiring Rep. W. R. Hull Jr., a Weston Democrat.

Rep. Durward G. Hall, a Republican, is retiring in the 7th District, and the candidates are Gene Taylor, 44, a Sarcoxie automobile dealer and former GOP national committeeman, and William "Bill" Thomas, 45, a Democrat.

Thomas, a high school biology teacher in Springfield for 23 years, is making his first venture into politics. The district is heavily Republican.

Democrats expect to return eight incumbent congressmen to Washington. The districts, incumbents and their opponents:

1st of Northern St. Louis—Rep. William L. Clay, 41, Missouri's first black congressman in a predominantly black district, vs. Richard O. Funsch, 39, a white Republican and a lawyer.

2nd of St. Louis County—Rep. James W. Symington, 43, son of Sen. Stuart Symington, vs. Webster Groves Mayor John W. "Jack" Cooper, 47, a Republican.

3rd of southern St. Louis city—Leonor K. Sullivan, the state's first congresswoman, vs. Albert J. Holst Sr., 55, a Republican and a mechanical engineer, and Charles H. Byford, 52, an independent who describes himself as an electronics security consultant.

4th of western Jackson County and west central Missouri— Rep. William J. Randall, 62, DIndependence, vs. Raymond E. Barrows, 54, Republican and an Appleton City alderman.

5th of Kansas City—Rep. Richard Bolling, 56, a Democrat, vs. Dr. Vernon E. Rice, 41, a Republican black and a dentist, and Stella Sollars, 42, an independent.

8th of central Missouri—Rep. Richard H. Ichord, 45, D-Houston, vs. David Countie, 34, a Republican and a Ballwin real estate broker.

9th of northeast Missouri—Rep. William L. Hungate, DTroy, 49, vs. Robert L. Prange, 56, a Republican and former state senator from Spanish Lake.

10th of Southeast Missouri—Rep. Bill D. Burlison, 39, DCape Girardeau, vs. Republican Marion F. Svendrowski, 42, a data processing engineer from Farmington.

There are several other interesting elections on the ballot.

Voters will decide whether to retain Supreme Court Judge John E. Bardgett, 45, who was reprimanded by the court—the first such action in at least 50 years—for "giving the appearance of impropriety" while in a bar with a legislator who was involved in a case before the court. Bardgett, appointed two years ago from the St. Louis Circuit Court, won approval for retention by a 3-to-1 vote of the State's lawyers.

Also on the ballot are two constitutional amendments. Amendment No. 1 would permit the legislature to eliminate the property tax on household goods and articles of personal use. But local governments would lose their share of the current taxes and the legislature would be forced to find new ways to replace the revenue.

Amendment No. 2 would permit the legislature to reconsider bills vetoed by the governor five days before the session ends in odd-numbered years such as 1973. Bills vetoed after that would be considered at the next special or general session.

Now, bills vetoed in the last five days olf the session must be acted upon before the legislature adjourns.

Voters Run Government

"WE THE PEOPLE . . ."

Those three words were written almost 200 years ago on a piece of paper that became known as the United States Constitution.

This nation was founded on the idea that all people should be a part of the government.

One principal way each and every American can be a part of his government is by exercising his privilege to vote, one of his many rights set down by our founding fathers.

Government should not be run exclusively by one political party or by an elite group of people, but by intelligent voters who have carefully weighed the issues and formed an opinion.

Tuesday is Election Day, 1972. Every voting citizen should observe his privilege of the Democratic process by casting his or her ballot.

Each citizen should also stop for a minute to appreciate the freedoms that he takes for granted every day of his life. Many Americans have died to keep freedom as the status quo.

LOST CAUSE?

If Jesus Christ should run for the Presidency of the U.S.A. his platform would probably be so revolutionary he would likely be defeated in November.. Christ hac supporters from all economic and intellectual levels but the majority of his followers were the poor, ragged, depressed crippled, oppressed, homeless uneducated, afflicted and those who wanted change. Many who were healthy wealthy and wise and saw no need for change had very little use for Him, in fact many had an intense hatred for this Man who dared to tell them their ways were wrong and finally the Roman soldiers crucified Him. His followers were a rag tag looking bunch wearing a variety of garb and an array of hair whiskers and beards and Christ Himself was probably a little rag tag looking. The following are some of the planks He might want in His platform.

He might say we must have tax reform, some people make millions and pay no taxes while some pay taxes on a meager income. The secrecy of the Internal service does not permit us to really know how bad it is, most everyone has a price, for some a bottle of wine, others a million dollars and the things that goes on behind those closed doors in Washington and the secrets in the files of I.R.S. would stagger the minds of decent people.

He would surely say lets stop the killing in Vietnam for quite some time its only purpose is to renew the present occupants lease on the White House and the life of one child let alone thousands is to high a price for this lease.

He would probably say our government must operate on a balanced budget, for not to do so is to steal from the generations that will follow. When a government borrows its way out of its failures and mistakes it shifts its responsibility to succeeding generations who must live within their means and somehow pay the debts of a society that was so irresponsible it did not even pay its own way.

He would likely say our government must represent all the people. We know who looks after the interest of I.T.T. but who is representing the poor lettuce picker in Florida, he is also a vital link in our chain of survival and no one in our society is self sustaining, any more.

He would say let's give the people an honest government, lets make justice to all a reality.

He would no doubt say abortion is wrong, marihuana is wrong and etc, etc. etc.

If Jesus Christ should propose the above ideas we would probably nail him to a cross declare it a national holiday and televise the entire proceedings.

Bailey, Harris, Yarbrough, Marsh Are Cadet Teachers

Seniors Kim Bailey, Bonnie Harris, Rhonda Yarbrough, and Mike Marsh are experimenting in the education field though a two- hour course of cadet teaching in the Sikeston public schools.

To be able to participate in cadet teaching, one must be an active member of the Future Teachers of America, sponsored by Miss Lucile Mount, for one semester, and must be able to work his schedule out to fit in the two hours.

Kim Bailey works in the middle school, under the supervision of Mrs. Gordon Beaver, in the physical education department the second and third hours.

Kim expressed her views about cadet teaching as "a good way to find out about teaching. I think everyone who is seriously thinking of going into the teaching field should look into this."

Kim's personal feelings about her position are "the students are great as far as being people, but I can't seem to make them understand I'm there to learn and not to play. I personally will be glad when this semester is over."

When asked if her future plans include pursuing the teaching profession, Kim quickly retorted, "Not as a teacher; I'll stay home and teach my own children."

Bonnie Harris is an active cadet teacher at the Regional Diagnostic clinic in Sikeston. Bonnie uses music for mental and physical therapy.

"I don't have anyone to tell me what to do because this is the first music therapy they have ever tried. I have to make things up as I go along," said Bonnie when the Barker reporter asked her with whom she worked.

Bonnie told the reporter, "The children are really a great deal of fun and they enjoy the music. They love to sing and march around the room."

Bonnie plans to further her music abilities by attending college next fall.

Rhonda Yarbrough is another physical education cadet. Rhonda works at Southeast Elementary, under the direction of Mrs. Felicia Fox, during the fourth and fifth hours each day.

Rhonda said, "The little boys and girls are so precious. Sometimes the things they say and do could be used to fill a book.

Use God's Wisdom; Make Wise Changes

"God grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change; the courage to change the things I can, and the wisdom to know the difference."

Many people waste their precious time worrying about trivial problems or past experiences that can never be changed. No matter what is done it must be realized that there are some things one has no control over and these are best pushed aside and shouldn't be dwelled upon.

What a shame it is when people are concerned with these things and not the ones they have control over.

Tackle the problems that can be changed. Use courage to stand up for beliefs and ideals. Don't be afraid to express an opinion and actively look and plan for the future.

It is so much better for one's own peace of mind to be ready to face life as it comes.

The difficulty is to distinguish between situations that can or cannot be changed. "God grant me the wisdom to know the difference."

Coed's Corner

After observing the results of a poll taken recently in journalism class, it was decided that Coed's Corner would dedicate itself this week to the explanation of a few of the basics in football.

The reason for this is that it has come to the attention of the staff that some people are not familiar with a few of the terms important to the game such as kick-off, first down, two-point conversion, safety, and touchdown.

Let's start at the very beginning.

Once upon a time the team goes out onto the field.

Prior to the game the captains of the team flip a coin to see who will be the lucky recipient of the football. The winners of the toss choose which they want to do — receive the ball or kick-off.

The losers of the toss get what is left.

Whoever chooses to receive the ball will have the ball kicked to them by the opposing team. When the team kicks the ball into the air, it is known as the kick-off. Naturally this is very important to the game.

Kick-offs also occur when a touchdown or a field goal has been made, and the ball is put into beginning play again.

After a beginning kick-off, the team tries to advance the ball down the field.

This leads us into the explanation of a first down.

Once the team has the ball, the players are given four chances in a row to advance the ball 10 yards toward the goal where they are trying to make a touchdown.

Their first attempt at this is known as a first down. The second is known as a second down and it continues that way up to the fourth down.

If they are successful in moving the ball 10 yards in four plays, they are given a chance to move the ball 10 yards more in four plays. This continues until they make a touchdown, the ball is intercepted by the opposing team, or they fail to make a 10 yard move in four plays. If the ball is intercepted by the opposing team, they start this whole process all over again.

Several ways of obtaining points appear during the course of a game.

One thing that is profitable to the opposing team is a safety.

This happens when one's own team is caught with the ball in its own end zone. This is a no-no for the team and the consequences are the giving of two points to the opponents.

The two-point conversion is the bonus for the team who can carry it off.

Citizens Earning Income Outside State Must File Missouri Return

JEFFERSON CITY-- Director of Revenue James E. Schaffner has issued a warning to Missouri taxpayers that they must file a Missouri State Income Tax Return, regardless of whether their income was earned in another state and taxes were paid to that state.

Schaffner referred to Section 143.010 of the Revised Statutes of the State of Missouri, which reads:

"Every single individual, a citizen or resident of this state having a gross income in excess of $1,200, and every married couple, citizens or residents of this state having a gross income in excess of $2,400, shall file an income tax return or returns, and pay a tax upon net income received, from all sources during the preceding year in excess of the exemptions herein provided."

Schaffner said Missouri citizens residing or earning income outside the state, including military personnel, are required by law to file a Missouri State Income Tax Return.

Under those conditions, he said, a Missouri return must be filed reporting all income from all sources. The taxpayer could then deduct the net income on which taxes were paid in another state. He would not be taxed twice on the same income, but would pay only the amount of taxes, if any, which would properly be owed to the State of Missouri.

"Obviously," Schaffner said, "this warning is being issued as a result of recent statements by State Auditor Christopher S. (Kit) Bond to the effect that it is not necessary to file a return under the conditions cited. I hesitate to inject myself into a matter where Mr. Bond will characterize my comments as a political attack, but as the chief administrator of our tax laws, I cannot allow the false impression to be spread that some persons are exempt from the law requiring the filing of a tax return.

"We now receive many tax returns each year from persons who owe no taxes to the state, but they do comply with the law by filing legal proof of their income and deductions. If this were not done, the result would be complete chaos.

"The situation in Missouri is no different than in other states or in connection with federal income taxes. Each citizen must file a return listing all particulars about his income and the taxes owed, if any.

"With regard to Mr. Bond, he established by Supreme Court decision that he has been continuously a Missouri citizen, yet he admitted both to the Supreme Court and in public statements that he filed no State Income Tax Returns for the years 1964, 1965 and 1966.

"He has now made a public statement that he did not file those returns because the accounting firm which handles his financial records, Haskins and Sells of St. Louis, felt it was not necessary. The firm was quoted as saying in a letter that "We believe . . . you would not have been liable for Missouri income taxes for those years."

"If the matter occurred as he and his tax advisors said it did, then the firm of Haskins and Sells has performed a disservice to the accounting profession and Mr. Bond likewise has brought discredit upon the legal profession by taking the position that a Missouri citizen did not have to file a Missouri return. It does not matter whether they "believe" any taxer were owed. The law requires the filing of a complete tax form to prove what is or is not owed.

"All qualified accounting firms, tax consultants and lawyers should be fully aware of the fact that a citizen of this state residing, earning income and paying income taxes in another state is required to file a Missouri tax return regardless of whether additional taxes would be owed to Missouri. Both Mr. Bond and the firm of Haskins and Sells fall into this category of people who should be aware of the law.

"I do not quarrel with Mr. Bond's statement that he owed no taxes to Missouri. This might very well be true. But the whole point is that he failed to prove as, required by law, that he owed no taxes. In the absence of a tax return, the government now has no way of knowing whether he and his accounting firm computed his tax status without making any errors. While other citizens file both state and federal returns, he chose to bypass the state and let it assume he owed no taxes.

"The government cannot be expected to make such assumptions. Both state and federal laws require filed returns in order that there might be sworn, legal proof as to the individual citizen's tax status.

"The statute of limitations has expired in Mr. Bond's case and no legal action is possible, but let there be no misunderstanding of the fact that the actions he had publicly admitted did constitute a violation of the law.

"His situtation is now one of personal conscience, not subject to legal action by the state, and he knows very well that I had left the matter there by refraining from further public comment. I would have continued to remain silent, had he not had the audacity to imply through public statements that it is proper for a citizen to fail to file a return if he believes he does not owe taxes to the state.

"That simply is not true, and I am therefore issuing this warning that any citizen in similar circumstances who fails to file a return will be subject to the full penalties provided by law.

"I am further ordering that this warning be mailed as an official directive from the State of Missouri to tax practitioners operating in the State, advising them of the continuing applicability and enforcement of Section 153.010 and all related tax laws of the State of Missouri."

Two Million Voters Expected To Cast Ballots In Missouri

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Amidst predictions of widespread ticket splitting and a sweep of the state by President Nixon, about 2 million Missouri voters will cast ballots Tuesday.

They will choose 10 congressmen. a governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, attorney general, state treasurer, 17 state senators, 163 state representatives and some judges as well as county officers.

There are clear favorites in many races. Few bets were being taken in the Capitol on two: the governor's race and the 6th Congressional District race in northwest Missouri.

Christopher S. Bond, 33-yearold state auditor, seeks to become the first Republican elected governor since Forrest C. Donnell, now 88 and still practicing law in St. Louis, was elected in 1940.

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, a Democrat, leaves office in January after serving two 4year terms.

Bond failed to unseat Congressman William L. Hungate in 1968 and was elected auditor in 1970.

The Democratic candidate is Edward L. Dowd, 54, a Catholic and father of eight who lost in the lieutenant governor's primary race in 1968 to Lt. Gov. William S. Morris. But Dowd beat Morris and eight other candidates in the Aug. 8 primary.

The hottest congressional race involves Republican Russell Sloan, 34, former football coach at Northeast Missouri State College at Kirksville, against Chillicothe cattle rancher Jerry Litton, a 35-year-old Democrat.

Bond has pegged his campaign to a theme for change, attacking state government patronage and what he calls the "spoils system." All other GOP state office seekers have echoed that line.

Bond, making a point to release explicit lists of contributions and expenditures, has proposed a state ethics and elections commission.

He wants a Missouri Bureau of Investigation set up under the future Department of Public Safety. He has proposed a lobbying office for Missouri in Washington, state subsidies for community recycling centers, regional correctional facilities, a "modified" form of no-fault auto insurance and a change in the handling of state tax collections.

He sais the state needs no increase in taxes because of federal revenue sharing and a general fund surplus caused by a "miscalculation by the current administration."

Education in poor areas would be the first priority of spending revenue sharing funds, Bond says. He favors increasing state support for schools to relieve the burden on local property taxes. He also favors a "super" board to govern all of Missouri's higher education.

Dowd's first priority would be aid for the elderly. He has reserved judgment on no-fault insurance. He says government reorganization can save $50 million and also is for putting all employes under the merit system.

A former president of the St. Louis Police Board and former FBI agent, Dowd favors a Missouri Bureau of Investigation under a nonpartisan board.

He has made a policy of not discussing any replacements, while Bond says he wants to replace the director of revenue, director of agriculture, director of planning and construction, comptroller and maybe others.

Newspaper polls have shown Dowd leading in St. Louis and Kansas City and Bond leading everywhere else, even in heavily Democratic southeast Missouri.

Nixon has led polls everywhere in the state. But Harry Wiggins, state chairman for George McGovern and Sargent Shriver, predicts McGovern will carry the state.

Nixon beat Hubert Humphrey by 20,000 votes here in 1968. McGovern's liberal stances have hurt him in Missouri, but his dumping of Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton of Missouri as his running mate has hurt more.

Charges and counter-charges have marked the campaign.

The Republicans have tried unsuccessfully to link the Democratic candidates with the "Democratic political machine in Jefferson City."

Bond and Atty. Gen. John C. Danfort eliminated the party designations from application forms in their offices and point to the fact that about 3,000 employes are still hired under the patronage system.

Dowd said Bond fired all the Democrats when he became auditor. Bond says his 80-member office has 18 Democrats. Danforth has 90 employes, about 45 per cent of them Democrats.

Bond's campaign manager has accused Dowd's people of spreading rumors such as Bond backing McGovern. The Democrats say Republicans may have sent somebody to the Springfield area to promise bigname speakers for Democrats—such as Peter Lawford— and then disappeared when the big-names were no-shows.

Bond's people made an issue of Dowd advertisements saying Bond admitted he didn't pay income tax and that Bond backed the doomed transportation bond issue, which would have given gasoline tax money to the cities for rapid transit.

Dowd said he has documents to back up his advertisements, including state Supreme Court stipulations Bond made during the court test of his residency, which Bond won.

Danforth, 36, favored in the newspaper polls for re-election, has concentrated his campaign on behalf of Bond. Lately, Danforth has campaigned on his record in the attorney general's office. State Rep. James E. Spain, 37, D-Bloomfield, is his opponent in a "David vs. Goliath" campaign.

Danforth has the advantage of plenty of money and the fact that he is the incumbent. He is eastern educated while Spain, a man of modest means from the Bootheel, attended Southeast Missouri State College and the University of Missouri law school.

In the lieutenant governor's race, it's east vs. west, with the east showing ahead in most of the polls. State Rep. Jack J. Schramm, 40, University City, the Democrat, has campaigned on a broad platform and says he would maintain a law office in St. Louis if elected.

The office traditionally has been one where the lieutenant governor practices law parttime.

Republican William C. Phelps, 38, a state House member for 12 years from Kansas City, says he would be a fulltime lieutenant governor whereas Schramm wouldn't. Phelps also has warned that if Bond is elected, Bond would have troubles with a Democratic second man.

Rep. George W. Parker, 49, a retired Air Force major from Columbia, promises to "clean up" the treasurer's office and wants to eliminate the practice of keeping short-term no-interest accounts in "favored" banks.

His Democratic opponent, James I. Spainhower of Jefferson City, wants to make the grab for state accounts more competitive and wants to selectively invest state money in depressed areas.

Parker says he can't do that with short-term loans, and the state couldn't make long-term loans.

Spainhower, 43, is a former state representative and is a professor of government at Lincoln University and a Christian Church minister.

Secretary of State James C. Kirkpatrick, 68-year-old Democrat, has been campaigning on his record. One of his major proposals is to get statewide voter registration.

He is opposed by 36-year-old Harold "Wheels" Kuehle, revenue collector for Cape Girardeau County. Kuehle has criticized Kirkpatrick's office for not cracking down on voter fraud in St. Louis County and on legislators who run for office in one district while living in another.

Kirkpatrick says the first problem is up to the St. Louis County prosecutor and the second is up to the attorney general.

Kuehle got his nickname because he has been confined to a wheelchair since he suffered a football injury in high school.

Political observers say anything can happen in the LittonSloan race. The district represents 23 counties and is urban, suburban and rural. It is about evenly split between Democrats and Republicans.

Litton talks the language of the farmer. Sloan, whose youth group is called the "Rolling Sloans," is the only major office candidate in Missouri with a crewcut. He favors a "let's win" policy in Vietnam. Litton, a conservative Democrat, says that avoiding another Vietnam is more important than placing blame.

They seek the seat vacated by retiring Rep. W. R. Hull Jr., a Weston Democrat.

Rep. Durward G. Hall, a Republican, is retiring in the 7th District, and the candidates are Gene Taylor, 44, a Sarcoxie automobile dealer and former GOP national committeeman, and William "Bill" Thomas, 45, a Democrat.

Thomas, a high school biology teacher in Springfield for 23 years, is making his first venture into politics. The district is heavily Republican.

Democrats expect to return eight incumbent congressmen to Washington. The districts, incumbents and their opponents:

1st of Northern St. Louis—Rep. William L. Clay, 41, Missouri's first black congressman in a predominantly black district, vs. Richard O. Funsch, 39, a white Republican and a lawyer.

2nd of St. Louis County—Rep. James W. Symington, 43, son of Sen. Stuart Symington, vs. Webster Groves Mayor John W. "Jack" Cooper, 47, a Republican.

3rd of southern St. Louis city—Leonor K. Sullivan, the state's first congresswoman, vs. Albert J. Holst Sr., 55, a Republican and a mechanical engineer, and Charles H. Byford, 52, an independent who describes himself as an electronics security consultant.

4th of western Jackson County and west central Missouri— Rep. William J. Randall, 62, DIndependence, vs. Raymond E. Barrows, 54, Republican and an Appleton City alderman.

5th of Kansas City—Rep. Richard Bolling, 56, a Democrat, vs. Dr. Vernon E. Rice, 41, a Republican black and a dentist, and Stella Sollars, 42, an independent.

8th of central Missouri—Rep. Richard H. Ichord, 45, D-Houston, vs. David Countie, 34, a Republican and a Ballwin real estate broker.

9th of northeast Missouri—Rep. William L. Hungate, DTroy, 49, vs. Robert L. Prange, 56, a Republican and former state senator from Spanish Lake.

10th of Southeast Missouri—Rep. Bill D. Burlison, 39, DCape Girardeau, vs. Republican Marion F. Svendrowski, 42, a data processing engineer from Farmington.

There are several other interesting elections on the ballot.

Voters will decide whether to retain Supreme Court Judge John E. Bardgett, 45, who was reprimanded by the court—the first such action in at least 50 years—for "giving the appearance of impropriety" while in a bar with a legislator who was involved in a case before the court. Bardgett, appointed two years ago from the St. Louis Circuit Court, won approval for retention by a 3-to-1 vote of the State's lawyers.

Also on the ballot are two constitutional amendments. Amendment No. 1 would permit the legislature to eliminate the property tax on household goods and articles of personal use. But local governments would lose their share of the current taxes and the legislature would be forced to find new ways to replace the revenue.

Amendment No. 2 would permit the legislature to reconsider bills vetoed by the governor five days before the session ends in odd-numbered years such as 1973. Bills vetoed after that would be considered at the next special or general session.

Now, bills vetoed in the last five days olf the session must be acted upon before the legislature adjourns.

Many who were healthy wealthy and wise and saw no need for change had very little use for Him, in fact many had an intense hatred for this Man who dared to tell them their ways were wrong and finally the Roman soldiers crucified Him. His followers were a rag tag looking bunch wearing a variety of garb and an array of hair whiskers and beards and Christ Himself was probably a little rag tag looking. The following are some of the planks He might want in His platform.

He might say we must have tax reform, some people make millions and pay no taxes while some pay taxes on a meager income. The secrecy of the Internal service does not permit us to really know how bad it is, most everyone has a price, for some a bottle of wine, others a million dollars and the things that goes on behind those closed doors in Washington and the secrets in the files of I.R.S. would stagger the minds of decent people.

He would surely say lets stop the killing in Vietnam for quite some time its only purpose is to renew the present occupants lease on the White House and the life of one child let alone thousands is to high a price for this lease.

He would probably say our government must operate on a balanced budget, for not to do so is to steal from the generations that will follow. When a government borrows its way out of its failures and mistakes it shifts its responsibility to succeeding generations who must live within their means and somehow pay the debts of a society that was so irresponsible it did not even pay its own way.

He would likely say our government must represent all the people. We know who looks after the interest of I.T.T. but who is representing the poor lettuce picker in Florida, he is also a vital link in our chain of survival and no one in our society is self sustaining, any more.

He would say let's give the people an honest government, lets make justice to all a reality.

He would no doubt say abortion is wrong, marihuana is wrong and etc, etc. etc.

If Jesus Christ should propose the above ideas we would probably nail him to a cross declare it a national holiday and televise the entire proceedings.

Nixon, Bond Winners In SHS Mock Election

Republicans Richard Nixon and Christopher "Kit" Bond were victorious in the mock election held in Sikeston Tuesday morning during homeroom.

Of approximately 1025 votes tabulated, President Nixon received 786, or 76.6 per cent. His Democratic opponent, Senator George McGovern, received 240 votes, or 23.4 per cent of the mock vote.

In the governor's race, Republican Kit Bond edged out Democrat Edward Dowd by only 54 votes, 538 to 484, respectively. Bond's lead is 5.2 per cent, 52.6 to 47.4 per cent.

Students were asked to vote Tuesday during homeroom period. After the students voted, the ballots were taken to New Forsenic League faculty adviser Blair Moran's room for tabulating.

Write- in ballots were disallowed, but a few of the notable write- in candidates for president and governor were- Archie Bunker, Walkin' Joe Teasdale, and John Ralph.

Bailey, Harris, Yarbrough, Marsh Are Cadet Teachers

Seniors Kim Bailey, Bonnie Harris, Rhonda Yarbrough, and Mike Marsh are experimenting in the education field though a two- hour course of cadet teaching in the Sikeston public schools.

To be able to participate in cadet teaching, one must be an active member of the Future Teachers of America, sponsored by Miss Lucile Mount, for one semester, and must be able to work his schedule out to fit in the two hours.

Kim Bailey works in the middle school, under the supervision of Mrs. Gordon Beaver, in the physical education department the second and third hours.

Kim expressed her views about cadet teaching as "a good way to find out about teaching. I think everyone who is seriously thinking of going into the teaching field should look into this."

Kim's personal feelings about her position are "the students are great as far as being people, but I can't seem to make them understand I'm there to learn and not to play. I personally will be glad when this semester is over."

When asked if her future plans include pursuing the teaching profession, Kim quickly retorted, "Not as a teacher; I'll stay home and teach my own children."

Bonnie Harris is an active cadet teacher at the Regional Diagnostic clinic in Sikeston. Bonnie uses music for mental and physical therapy.

"I don't have anyone to tell me what to do because this is the first music therapy they have ever tried. I have to make things up as I go along," said Bonnie when the Barker reporter asked her with whom she worked.

Bonnie told the reporter, "The children are really a great deal of fun and they enjoy the music. They love to sing and march around the room."

Bonnie plans to further her music abilities by attending college next fall.

Rhonda Yarbrough is another physical education cadet. Rhonda works at Southeast Elementary, under the direction of Mrs. Felicia Fox, during the fourth and fifth hours each day.

Rhonda said, "The little boys and girls are so precious. Sometimes the things they say and do could be used to fill a book.

Use God's Wisdom; Make Wise Changes

"God grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change; the courage to change the things I can, and the wisdom to know the difference."

Many people waste their precious time worrying about trivial problems or past experiences that can never be changed. No matter what is done it must be realized that there are some things one has no control over and these are best pushed aside and shouldn't be dwelled upon.

What a shame it is when people are concerned with these things and not the ones they have control over.

Tackle the problems that can be changed. Use courage to stand up for beliefs and ideals. Don't be afraid to express an opinion and actively look and plan for the future.

It is so much better for one's own peace of mind to be ready to face life as it comes.

The difficulty is to distinguish between situations that can or cannot be changed. "God grant me the wisdom to know the difference."

Freshmen Girls Honor Bullpups With Banquet

After a trying but successful football season, the Sikeston "Bullpups" were honored with a banquet given by a few of their frehmen fans.

The banquet given by the freshmen girls was held last Saturday night at the Shady Acres Church of Christ. The girls got together to plan this party for a team of whom they were really proud.

Kelly Hill, Karen Ducan, , Robyn Hale, and Tammy Houcnin were in charge of the dinner. Together with many of the freshmen girls they served a dinner for the boys in which everyone cooperated and worked together to make it an enjoyable evening.

Coach George Hale and Mrs. Hale attended along with many of the freshmen football players.

Presented to their hardworking team was a cake that contained all the names of the players and coaches.

"The food was good and I think everyone had a good time," Rodney Littleton commen ed.

Many of the players felt that the evening was a success and that they really appreciated the girls' efforts. It made them feel proud that they had friends who cared enough to go to all the trouble.

Rodney Littleton, Jeff Baker, Jerry Gater, Steve Dupont, Scott Scherer, Marc Eaves, Lorenzo Harris, Gene Hockersmith and Manager Chris Alberts.

Coed's Corner

After observing the results of a poll taken recently in journalism class, it was decided that Coed's Corner would dedicate itself this week to the explanation of a few of the basics in football.

The reason for this is that it has come to the attention of the staff that some people are not familiar with a few of the terms important to the game such as kick-off, first down, two-point conversion, safety, and touchdown.

Let's start at the very beginning.

Once upon a time the team goes out onto the field.

Prior to the game the captains of the team flip a coin to see who will be the lucky recipient of the football. The winners of the toss choose which they want to do — receive the ball or kick-off.

The losers of the toss get what is left.

Whoever chooses to receive the ball will have the ball kicked to them by the opposing team. When the team kicks the ball into the air, it is known as the kick-off. Naturally this is very important to the game.

Kick-offs also occur when a touchdown or a field goal has been made, and the ball is put into beginning play again.

After a beginning kick-off, the team tries to advance the ball down the field.

This leads us into the explanation of a first down.

Once the team has the ball, the players are given four chances in a row to advance the ball 10 yards toward the goal where they are trying to make a touchdown.

Their first attempt at this is known as a first down. The second is known as a second down and it continues that way up to the fourth down.

If they are successful in moving the ball 10 yards in four plays, they are given a chance to move the ball 10 yards more in four plays. This continues until they make a touchdown, the ball is intercepted by the opposing team, or they fail to make a 10 yard move in four plays. If the ball is intercepted by the opposing team, they start this whole process all over again.

Several ways of obtaining points appear during the course of a game.

One thing that is profitable to the opposing team is a safety.

This happens when one's own team is caught with the ball in its own end zone. This is a no-no for the team and the consequences are the giving of two points to the opponents.

The two-point conversion is the bonus for the team who can carry it off.

Banks In Lilbourn New Madrid Will Close For Election

NEW MADRID— In a move to encourage citizens to vote in all elections, two area banks— Bank of New Madrid and Peoples Bank of Lilbourn— have announced they will not be open for business on General election day Tuesday or on any future election day.

The announcement was made by Sam L. Hunter, Jr., president of Bank of New Madrid and vice president of Peoples Bank of Lilbourn, who said the policy applies to all local, state or national elections.

Hunter said, "We feel everyone should exercise the right to vote in all elections. While the banks will be closed, employes will be on duty all day calling voters to encourage them to go to the polls and express their choices.

"It is not our intention to influence the people how to vote, but it is our intention to urge them to vote. Apathy among voters in other countries has resulted in serious consequences, and it could happen here in our country" he added.

Transportation to the polls will be provided, as well as absentee ballots for those unable to go to the polls. Persons interested may telephone 748- 5551 in New Madrid or 688- 2576 in Lilbourn for either of these services.

What's The Law?

The Case Of The Aged Hot-Shot

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

There was still a lot of zing in old Grandpa and he wanted to buy a new car to match his zip. When a dealer showed him an automobile and told him that it could do over 100 mph, Grandpa bought it on the spot.

Shortly thereafter, Grandpa was on the spot. And so was the manufacturer of the car.

As soon as Grandpa took the vehicle out of the showroom he had it zooming down a highway at over 115 mph. What's more, he was going so fast he couldn't stop it in time to avoid crashing into the rear of Wilma's car, which had stopped for a traffic light. Badly hurt in the mishap, Wilma not only sued Grandpa for her injuries, but she sued the manufacturer of his car as well.

"It was pure negligence to make a car that could go over 100 mph," complained Wilma in court. "What's more, the manufacturer compounded its carelessness by encouraging purchasers to go that fast by advertising the speed capabilities of its vehicle.

"If Grandpa hadn't had all that power," concluded Wilma, "and had he not been encouraged to use it, the accident never would have happened."

"That's old fashioned thinking," responded the manufacturer. "We're in the space age now. Power is the thing. While we may provide it, however, the way it's used isn't our responsibility."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you hold the manufacturer liable for providing hot- shot Grandpa with a high-powered car?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that the manufacturer of an automobile cannot be held accountable because a car is driven at an illegal rate of speed. A manufacturer is no more required to make an automobile that's incapable of illegal use, observed the judge, than is the manufacturer of a gun required to make a pistol that's incapable of killing someone.

Dowd Encourages Straight Democratic Ticket Tuesday

Over 125 people attended an appreciation breakfast this morning for Edward L. Dowd, Democratic candidate for governor, and Rep. Bill D. Burlison, running for his third term as 10th District Democratic Congressman at Ramada Inn.

Rep. Burlison began by giving a brief speech about corruption in the Nixon Administration and the many promises President Nixon has made to the American people and has broken. He then talked about Dowd and his qualifications to serve as the next governor for Missouri. He also said the Democratic ticket was one of the best ones that has been presented to the people in a long time.

"The next three days are going to be a fever pitch for the people of Missouri and then it will be all over," Dowd began his speech. He said that many of the newspapers are saying that the race for governor is going to be close and that, if this statement is true, a heavy vote for him in Southeast Missouri can mean the difference in winning. Dowd said that it doesn't matter what the candidate says, it's what the people do that counts.

Dowd also talked about splitting the party ticket. "I don't believe in this," Dowd said. "My father raised me to believe that it was okay for a man to change his religion but never to change his party," Dowd continued. "And I believe that this is true."

Dowd concluded his speech by asking everyone to work hard on election day by making sure the people get to the polls to vote.

Branch Bill Author Breaks Ground

PARMA -- State Rep. Fred E. Copeland of New Madrid turned the first spadeful of dirt for the new branch banking facility at Parma during ceremonies held Thursday afternoon.

The bank, a branch of Farmers State Bank of Risco, will come under new House Bill 383 which permits banks, upon approval from the state, to open a branch in a community that does not already have a bank. The branch must be in the same county and within 10 miles of the parent bank.

Van Gibbs, executive vice president of the Risco bank, said Parma area residents will be able to cash checks and make change and deposits in the new walk-in, drive-in facility. However, loans will be made only at the bank in Risco.

Copeland, who represents the 161st district, which includes all of New Madrid County with the exception of Anderson Township plus Cotton Hill Township in Dunklin County, sponsored the piece of legislation and said that he feels "this is a very big step to help the economy of rural Missouri."

Copeland said the bill was organized after the town of Parma came to him in need of a banking facility. Parma is the first town in the state to take advantage of the new bill but many are expected to follow. In the future, Copeland feels the bill will be expanded to meet the needs of all rural communities.

The new Parma facility will be located on the corner of East and Main Streets directly across the street from the fire department.

Branch Bill Author Breaks Ground

PARMA -- State Rep. Fred E. Copeland of New Madrid turned the first spadeful of dirt for the new branch banking facility at Parma during ceremonies held Thursday afternoon.

The bank, a branch of Farmers State Bank of Risco, will come under new House Bill 383 which permits banks, upon approval from the state, to open a branch in a community that does not already have a bank. The branch must be in the same county and within 10 miles of the parent bank.

Van Gibbs, executive vice president of the Risco bank, said Parma area residents will be able to cash checks and make change and deposits in the new walk-in, drive-in facility. However, loans will be made only at the bank in Risco.

Copeland, who represents the 161st district, which includes all of New Madrid County with the exception of Anderson Township plus Cotton Hill Township in Dunklin County, sponsored the piece of legislation and said that he feels "this is a very big step to help the economy of rural Missouri."

Copeland said the bill was organized after the town of Parma came to him in need of a banking facility. Parma is the first town in the state to take advantage of the new bill but many are expected to follow. In the future, Copeland feels the bill will be expanded to meet the needs of all rural communities.

The new Parma facility will be located on the corner of East and Main Streets directly across the street from the fire department.

What You Want To Know

Q. I understand there's a good chance that "Peyton Place" will be coming back to TV on a regular basis. Does this mean that many of the old regulars will be back in their roles? I somehow can't see Mis Farrow coming back, but are any of the others going to star again?— J.S., Providence, R.I.

A. There's a possibility that "Peyton Place" may show up again as a regular weekly feature on network TV. According to the latest talk, 20th Century- Fox may revive the series under the title, "Return to Peyton Place," and aim for NBC to telecast it. However, there is nothing definite set and no casting has been announced.

Q. I have a bet with a friend that Lynda Day George, who stars in "Mission: Impossible," played one of the regular starlets in the TV series "Bracken's World." I don't think she did. —M.C., Albany, N.Y.

A. Miss George was not one of the trio of starlets in "Bracken's World," the series about bit Hollywood studio politics and intrigues. The three regulars were Linda Harrison, Laraine Stephens and Karen Jensen.

Q. I dig "Room 222" more than any other series on TV. You know this show made me take a second look at many of my teachers and think about them as people rather than machines. In fact, we rap a lot more in class since some of the others in my school realized teachers are human beings with faults and such. I thought you'd like my letter enough to print it.— L.R., Sarasota, Fla.

A. Your letter is very interesting and I'm sure "Room 222" has had a similar effect on many high school students who have watched the series.

The Tikis

Playing at the Ramada Inn

Combining music, song, and rapid-fire comedy, the five talented young showmen called THE TIKIS are proven crowd pleasers on any stage. The enthusiastic TIKIS' style, timing and originality and the skill developed through long practice and polished by seven years experience are sure to turn the evening into an unforgettable experience.

With a variety of talent that appeals to all tastes and interests, it isn't hard to see why THE TIKIS have become one of the most sought after groups in the business, but five of the key reasons for their success are the men behind the instruments.

HAYES HOPPER, known affectionately as "Teddy Bear" comes on strong with the trombone, sax, flute, and triangle. (Yes, triangle --true talent knows no limits!)

Versatile DWIGHT ANDERSON plays sax, flute and drums with a flair as distinct as his own Southern drawl.

CLYDE MASTERS, who handles the group's arrangements and composes most of their original song material, specializes on the electric bass, but don't be surprised to find him with the banjo, harmonica, piano, or trumpet.

Holding forth behind the drums is the shy one with the big beat, 'timid"

Holding borth behind the drums is the shone with the big beat, "timid" TIM SMITH. However, when Tim surrounds himself with the skins and begins to make with the sticks, we would be the last to call him "timid".

But the man who adds the spark that combines all this variety of talent into one terrific show is ANDY ROMAN, featured vocalist and man on the guitar. The youngest of the group, ANDY possesses that rare combination of ability and personality that makes him a solid favorite with any audience.

There can't be too many more reasons to offer, other than their big sound, fantastic vocals, zany comedy, and just the fact that they are five talented guys from the South. Maybe their record breaking SRO club dates and chart-making records has something to do with folks saying, "That's what I like about THE TIKIS!"

"The New Bill Cosby Show"

Monday 9:00-10:00 PM

Cosby Comments On His Comic Idols

"...I was impressed with his simplicity and observation and his fantastic sense of humor in establishing a picture with words."

Mark Twain, famous American humorist, is the subject of this statement by another famous American comic-- Bill Cosby, the star of "The New Bill Cosby Show" seen Mondays (9:00— 10:00 PM,) on the CBS Television Network.

Cosby credits Twain with being one of the strong influences on his own style. "When I was a boy my mother used to read Mark Twain to me, and I read all of his works for myself when I was in high school," he says.

Another man who has influenced Cosby in nightclub comic turned television personality, Redd Foxx.

"I first bought some of his records when I was in high school," Cosby says of Foxx. "What impressed me was his ability to deliver a word and make it mean something special through sound and inflections. That's where he really shines."

About the effect Charlie Chaplin has had on him, Cosby says: "Some years ago there was a Chaplin film festival in New York City. I went three times a day. I saw him do things that I've seen modern comedians do on the screen. They probably lifted them from Chaplin, and I can't say I blame them. I can't think of a better clown for any comic to emulate."

At his home Cosby has a copy of the film "Steamboat Bill," starring Buster Keaton-- another favorite from the annals of comic history.

"Every once in a while I thread it on the projector and run it off, waiting for the routine in which he gets into a limousine, makes a U— turn on the street and then gets out of the car on the other side. That bit is a whole education in comic acting."

Thursday-Nov. 8 8 - 8-9 PM

Detective Sgt. Ed Brown (Don Galloway), mugged during a Los Angeles visit, conceals his identity to check out what an arrest is like for an innocent civilian. Series star Raymond Burr directed this drama.

Sgt. Brown learns several valuable lessons in a Los Angeles jail cell, when he is booked for resisting arrest and decides to find out what an ordinary man undergoes at the hands of overworked police.

His encounters with vicious criminals, such as Caine (guest star Don Stroud); a tired and hostile policeman, Officer Buckner (guest star Rudy Solari); and his old friend, Officer Dewey (guest star Jack Ging), give Ed new insights into the plight of the innocent citizen who looks suspicious. The episode was written by Richard Landau.

What You Want To Know

Q. I am a Harry Morgan fan and I used to watch "Peter and Gladys" and "Dragnet" all the time just for this fine character actor. Is Harry Morgan going to star in any other TV series? I like to watch him.— Mrs. L.C., Englewood, Fla.

A. Harry Morgan recently appeared in a pilot film titled "Ellery Queen" with Peter Lawford in the lead role, and if the series gets sold, Morgan will probably be a regular. Meanwhile, you can see him as a guest star on many of the leading TV series.

Q. Is the actor known as Eric Braeden the same guy who used to be regular in the TV series "Rat Patrol" under the name of Hans something? I can't imagine two people looking so much alike and not being either twins or the same person. P.F., Lyndhurst, N.J.

A. You have a sharp eye for faces... Eric Braeden used to be known as Hans Gudegast when he playing the German officer in "The Rat Patrol" TV series. Many fans have written our mailbag about Eric's name change, and we have answered the question at least on four other occasions.

Q. Who played in the TV western series "Cheyenne" and was "Maverick" the alternating TV series with "Cheyenne" many TV seasons ago?— M.H., Memphis, Tenn.

A. Clint Walker was the star of the "Cheyenne" TV series. James Garner's "Maverick" series didn't alternate with any other TV western...it had a weekly time slot all its own.

"Fat Albert and The Cosby Kids"

Laugh And Learn - - - A Powerful Learning Partnership

"Learning and laughter are a powerful partnership in the development of a child. Unfortunately, they are paired all too rarely," says Dr. Gordon L. Berry, assistant dean in the University of the City of Los Angeles Graduate School of Education.

Dr. Berry believes that a bunch of funny- looking kids with funny- sounding nicknames whose unfunny milieu dates from the slums of Depression— era Philadelphia may give a major boost to that partnership.

Along with 10 other educational specialists from UCLA and the University of Massachusetts, Dr. Berry is part of a unique panel of experts who act as story consultants for "Fat Albert and the Cosby Kids," new series of innovative children's programs seen Saturdays (11:30— 12 noon) on the CBS Television Network. Bill Cosby stars as narrator and "friend" in a weekly feature of animated- cartoon stories that draw heavily on Cosby's own childhood experiences.

The panel assists the writers, Jim Ryan and Bill Danch, in the selection of central themes, establishing the objectives of each story with an eye to its educational value and psychological effect.

That's the learning part.

A new concept of "education without teaching," the Saturday— morning series brings lessons in moral values to young viewers of elementary- school age through the animated- cartoon adventures and misadventures of Fat Albert and his neighborhood pals, including Weird Harold, Dumb Donald and a youngster who looks startlingly like a very small Bill Cosby.

Cosby, as himself, introduces and closes each cartoon story, underscoring with his special brand of humor what has been learned from each tale. In between youngsters can find pure entertainment in the animated antics of Fat Albert and his friends and in the special music-- with lyrics related to the storyline-- played with comic gusto by the kids on a collection of out- of- this world instruments.

That's the laughter part.

"It is important for youngsters to laugh and enjoy," says Dr. Berry. "In this format, they can do that-- while being exposed to a learning experience that can have an impact on their ability to cope with the problem of growing up.

"We say 'live and learn'-- we can also laugh and learn."

"Fat Albert and The Cosby Kids"

Laugh And Learn - - - A Powerful Learning Partnership

"Learning and laughter are a powerful partnership in the development of a child. Unfortunately, they are paired all too rarely," says Dr. Gordon L. Berry, assistant dean in the University of the City of Los Angeles Graduate School of Education.

Dr. Berry believes that a bunch of funny- looking kids with funny- sounding nicknames whose unfunny milieu dates from the slums of Depression— era Philadelphia may give a major boost to that partnership.

Along with 10 other educational specialists from UCLA and the University of Massachusetts, Dr. Berry is part of a unique panel of experts who act as story consultants for "Fat Albert and the Cosby Kids," new series of innovative children's programs seen Saturdays (11:30— 12 noon) on the CBS Television Network. Bill Cosby stars as narrator and "friend" in a weekly feature of animated- cartoon stories that draw heavily on Cosby's own childhood experiences.

The panel assists the writers, Jim Ryan and Bill Danch, in the selection of central themes, establishing the objectives of each story with an eye to its educational value and psychological effect.
